NEW PRIMARY LAW.

Provisions of the White-Sheatz Act Just Passed.

STATE TO PAY EXPENSES

One Primary to Be Held in January and One on the First Saturday in June, or in April in a Presidential Year—Saloons Must Close.

The White-Sheatz act for uniform primary elections, as finally adopted on Feb. 14 at Harrisburg, provides that after November 1906, two primaries shall be held each year in every election district of this commonwealth in which nominations are to be made or delegates or party officers to be elected.

One shall be held on the fourth Saturday before the February election, to be known as the Winter primary; the other shall be held on the first Saturday of June, except in years when a president of the United States is to be elected, in which year it shall be held on the second Saturday of April, to be known as the Spring primary.

Delegates to state and national conventions, except delegates at large to national conventions, which shall be elected by the state convention, shall be elected at the Spring primary, by any party or body of electors, one of whose candidates at either the general or February election preceding, polled 2 per cent of the largest entire vote cast in the state for any candidate at thee last general election.

Nominations of Candidates.

Candidates for all offices to be filled at the general election, except of those nominated by national or state conventions, shall be nominated at the Spring primary.

Candidates for all offices to be filled at the February election shall be nominated at the Winter primary, and such party officers as are provided for by the rules of the several political parties to be elected by vote of the party electors, shall be elected at either or both primaries by any political party or body of electors, at either the general or February elections preceding such primary polled 2 per cent of the largest entire vote cast in the political district in which nominations are to be made, or candidates to be elected for any candidate at the last general election.

Nothing in the act prevents the nomination of candidates for borough or township offices or other offices not specifically enumerated in this act, in the manner provided by existing laws.

The Use of Papers

Any association of electors not constituting a party may nominate candidates by nomination papers, as is provided by existing laws.

This act does not apply to the nomination of candidates for presidential electors nor to the nomination of candidates to be voted for at special elections to fill vacancies.

On or before the ninth Saturday preceding the Spring primary the secretary of the commonwealth shall send to the county commissioners in each county a written notice setting forth the number of congressmen and officers of the commonwealth not nominated by state conventions, to be elected or voted for therein at the next succeeding general election.

On or before the same date the chairman of the state committee of each party shall send to the county commissioners a written notice setting forth the number of delegates to be elected in such county to the state and national convention of such party.

On or before the ninth Saturday preceding each primary the chairman of the county committee of each party shall send to the county commissioners of such county a written notice setting forth the names of all party offices to be filled by election at the ensuing primary.

Delegates to Conventions.

Upon receipt of such notices, and beginning within one week thereafter, the county commissioners shall publish the number of delegates to be elected to the state and national conventions of each party, with the name of all offices for which nominations are to be made, or candidates for the party offices to be elected within the county at the ensuing primary, at least once each week for three successive weeks in two newspapers of general circulation within the county. Wherever such course is possible, such newspapers as far as practicable shall be representative of different political parties.

Official primary ballots for each party shall be prepared by the county commissioners. These ballots shall be printed on white paper of uniform quality and shall be uniform in size, style of printing and general appearance.

On the back of such ballots shall be printed in prominent type the name of the party, with these instructions:

How to Vote.

"Make a cross (X) in the square to the right of each candidate for whom you wish to vote. If you desire to vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot write or paste his name in the blank space provided for that purpose."

The ballot shall vary in form only as the names of offices or candidates may require. The names of the candidates shall appear in alphabetical order under the respective offices.

The secretary of the commonwealth, immediately after the filing of the petitions, shall forward to the county commissioners of each county a correct list of the candidates of each party for the various offices.

The county commissioners shall have to file in their offices, at least one week preceding the primary, open to public inspection, forms of the ballots with the names printed thereon.

The county commissioners shall prepare and furnish to election officers for use at the primaries as many official ballots of each party as is equal to double the total number of votes cast for any candidate of that party within the election district at the last general election, and shall furnish such additional number of ballots as may be requested in writing by the chairman of the county committee of any party two weeks before the primary.

The county commissioners shall prepare and furnish to the election officers at the primaries ballot boxes and other supplies.

Saloons Must Close.

The primaries shall be conducted by the regular election boards elected under existing laws, who shall receive one-half the compensation for their services that they receive at elections. Inspectors of elections shall have the right to appoint clerks to assist them as at elections, who shall also receive one-half the compensation that clerks receive for such services at elections.

The polls shall be oppen between 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. All persons licensed to sell liquor shall be compelled to keep their places closed on primary election days between 1 p. m. and 9 p. m.

No elector shall be permitted to receive any assistance in marking his ballot, unless he shall first make affidavit that he cannot r ead the names on the ballot, or by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot.

The expenses of the primaries shall be paid by the state.

The qualifications of electors entitled to vote at a primary election shall be the same as the qualifications of electors entitled to vote at elections.

Each elector shall have the right to receive the ballot of the party for which he asks. If he is challenged he shall be required to make oath or affirmation that at the next preceding general election, at which he voted he voted for a majority of the candidates of the party for whose ballot he asks.

DIED AT HIS POST.

Engineer Joseph Leslie Found Lifeless in His Cab.

Joseph Leslie, an engineer who resides at Susquehanna, this state, was killed while handling the throttle on an Erie freight engine, near Wellsburg Thursday night. In just what manner Leslie met his death will perhaps never be known, but it is presumed that he had stuck his head out of the window and that it came in contact with some object, the nature of which could not be ascertained. Between Chemung and Waverly the fireman of the engine had occasion to go to the engineer's side of the cab and found Leslie lying on the floor with an ugly wound in the forehead, from which a stream of blood was gushing. The skull had been fractured and the engineer was stone dead when found by the fireman.

The fireman took the dead engineer's place and ran the train through to Waverly, where the authorities were notified and the body was removed to undertaking rooms and was taken in charge by friends. The dead engineer was 45 years old and was well known to all the railroad men on the Erie.

SAW WARSAW RIOTS.

Frank Frisbie and Family Just Got Out of Russia in Time.

Frank Frisbie of New York city, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Frisbie, of Orwell, this county, has recently returned with his family from Russia. Mr. Frisbie is an expert horse trainer and some time ago went to Russia under a contract for $6,000 a year to take charge of the stock farm of County Hembach. He was given a check for $1,000 for his traveling expenses and took his family with him.

Almost immediately upon their arrival the war broke out with Japan. The count went to war and the contract with Mr. Frisbie was void. When Mr. Frisbie and his family turned their faces to go homeward they got into the awful riots at Warsaw. After the trains had been stopped for several days Mr. Frisbie and his family took the first train that moved out. The second train was dynamited and numbers killed. Everywhere on their trip they saw horrible scenes and when they finally got on shipboard and arrived in America they were devoutly thankful.

POMONA GRANGE 23

Met at North Orwell on February 15 and 16.

REPORT OF SESSIONS HELD.

Mortimer Whitehead Was Present and Gave an Interesting Address—Strong Resolutions Adopted in Regard to Several Things

Pomona Grange No. 23 of Bradford and Sullivan counties met with North Orwell Grange Feb. 15 and 16, which proved to be an important as well as a very busy and interesting session. Brother Mortimer Whitehead, past lecturer of the national grange, and a constant worker in its earliest days, was present and by his words of counsel and instruction, helped to make the meeting a success.

Brother A. M. Cornell, state lecturer, and Brother Rev. J. W. Johnson, state chaplain, were also present. Program was closely followed and a number deserve special mention. Owing to the severe cold weather the meeting was not called to order until 11:30, by Past Master A. S. Stevens. After opening exercises, the minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Dinner was then announced, to which all did ample justice and decided with their former pastor that the ladies of North Orwell are good cooks.

Thursday Afternoon.

Applications—Henry Coryell, Lucy Stevens, Agnes Coolbaugh.

Brother E. E. Chubbuck then extended to the visitors a sincere and cordial welcome; response by Brother A. M. Cornell.

An excellent orchestra from Unity Grange, Wyoming county, then gave a fine selection and responded to an encore. Installation of Pomona officers for present term was impressively performed by Brother Whitehead, assisted by Brother Cornell and Sister Agnes Coolbaugh.

Report of subordinate granges were then read.

Brother Whitehead was then introduced and gave a short talk exemplifying the unwritten work of the order. He was followed by the male quartet from Spring Hill, composed of Brothers Tyler, Blocher, Miles and Miles, who also responded to an encore. Adjourned for fifth degree meeting where much important business was transacted.

Thursday Evening.

After a half hour of music by the orchestra, prayer was offered by Rev. J. W. Johnson of Laceyville. Select reading by Henry Coryell was followed by Spring Hill quartet.

Mrs. Louis Piollet's paper, "The Rights of Children," was a touching appeal to parents to properly "lead the faltering steps from the threshold of life to the portal of eternity.

"'Little feet will go astray,
Guide them, mothers, while you may.'"

Duet by Lelah Chubbuck and Helen Moore. Rev. J. W. Johnson spoke for a few moments. Recognizing his position as a minister of the gospel, he unhesitatingly recommended all to unite with the grange.

Hon. Louis Piollet, past master of Pomona Grange, was called for. The farmer makes it possible for other professions to exist. Farmers create wealth, others do not. Brother Johnson followed with a sacred solo. Brother Mortimer Whitehead was then introduced. The large audience was somewhat tired but listened intently for an hour to this very entertaining speaker. He showed very clearly the many advantages to be derived from belonging to the grange, which has become as prominent an organization as the church or the school, and now number nearly one million members in the United States. Grangers are saved two out of every three dollars by mutual fire insurance companies, but benefits in a social and educational way can not be measured by dollars and cents. The immense advantage to farmers by standing together was illustrated by the marketing of cotton and raisin crops in 1905. President Roosevelt is standing on a platform of a "square deal to all," long advocated by the grange. The speaker gave a history of rural free delivery of which he was the originator; now 11,000,000 people are benefited and he predicts two deliveries a day with a parcels post. Pennsylvania must soon follow Ohio in the two cent railroad law. The possibilities of the grange have not been conceived. Closed with music by orchestra.

Friday Morning.

Opened with song by grange. Reports of deputies. Brother A. T. Lilley reports good work in most granges and a re-organized grange at Shores Hill, known as Central Grange, with 46 members. Brother N. D. Snyder reports two new granges, one at Leraysville with 51 members and one at Lime Hill with 110 members

Report of resolutions committee was then made and unanimously adopted as read.

RESOLVED, That we unanimously endorse the action of the National Grange in advocating legislation by congress upon the following propositions:

1. Strengthen rather than weaken the present law.

2. The enactment of such laws as will enable the postmaster general to establish an experimental "parcels post."

3. The enactment of such a law as will enable the farmers of the United States to use untaxed, denaturized alcohol for lighting and heating power and other farm purposes.

4. The enactment by congress of the House of Representatives' bill No. 189, known as the "Grange Roads Bill," providing national aid for improvement of highways,

RESOLVED, That we endorse the action of the Pennsylvania State Grange and pledge our hearty support in favor of legislation in our state on the following measures:

1. Permitting electric or trolley lines to carry freight.

2. Establish a maximum railroad rate of fare in the state of two cents a mile.

3. More equitable tax laws.

4. Enforcing the laws, restricting the railroads from entering into any other business except transportation.

5. The improvement of our highways at the expense of all the people and for the general good, and the several other measures proposed by our State Grange.

RESOLVED, That we congratulate the order upon the harmony, growth and prosperity now prevailing within the borders of this Pomona grange, and we pledge our continued loyalty and fidelity to the high principles of our organization and "Will hope and persevere."

RESOLVED, That we hail with satisfaction the growing sentiment in favor of direct legislation through the system known as the initiative and referendum.

RESOLVED, That we endorse the action of the Pennsylvania State Grange looking to the organization of a Grange Life Insurance company, and be it further

RESOLVED, That we assure the committee on life insurance of our interest in this movement, and that we are with them in heart and hand in the organization of such a life insurance company. Resolved further, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to each member of this committee.

RESOLVED, That we heartily appreciate the fraternal care and kindness so freely extended to us by the members of grange No. 1286 and the citizens of North Orwell.

Brother Whitehead spoke a few moments on his work in connection with American Agriculturist. In early days of granges it was hard to interest the press in grange work, except in ridicule.

Master announces the following to act as Pomona legislative committee to serve two years: A. M. Cornell, Hon. L. T. Manley and E. E. Chubbuck. Music by orchestra.

Brothers Cornell and Shaw explained the "Initiative and referendum" and Rev. Johnson spoke on the matter of grange life insurance; he being one of committee appointed by the state grange to look into the matter.

Brother Cornell was called for and spoke a moment only, congratulating Pomona Grange No. 23, on the harmony existing throughout the district. A rising vote of thanks was given the orchestra, the male quartet and to Brother Whitehead.

MRS. J. S. MOTT, Sec.

MOTOR CARS FOR STEAM ROADS.

Coudersport and Port Allegheny Line Will Put One in Service.

Commencing April 1, a gasoline car, similar to those used on the Union Pacific, will be installed on the Coudersport and Port Allegheny railroad. The car will be 60 feet long, cost $15,000, have a capacity of 48 passengers, a baggage compartment, and develop a motive power to propel itself and two other cars 50 miles an hour.

If more of the steam roads would cater to local traffic in this way, probably their lines would not be paralleled by as many trolley hoads as they now are. Between Towanda and Waverly the Lehigh Valley ought to be able to successfully operate the motor car, and provide people along the line with frequent service. But of course it wont do it.

Waived a Hearing.

Katy Jane Johnson waived a hearing before Justice Meredith Monday and gave bail for her appearance at court. Katy Jane is charged with furnishing liquor to minors, it being alleged that she is the one who gave the liquor to the fourteen year old Parker girl, who was found lying out in the snow, dead drunk, the other night.

Held for Extradition.

Howard Ferris, charged by the Lehigh Valley railroad company with the larceny of a quantity of copper and several headlight reflectors, was committed to the county jail at Owe-Waverly.

TEMPERANCE WORK.

What the W. C. T. U. Is Doing in This County.

OBSERVANCE OF SABBATH DAY.

Discussed at Meeting at East Troy Recently and Its Benefits Noted—The License Question at New Albany—Other Notes.

The W. C. T. U. county president, Mrs. Sylvia B. Norrish, has been one of the busiest women in Bradford county since the county convention held at East Smithfield. She attended both state and national conventions, the latter being held in California and at that convention was made an official representation to the World's convention to be held at Boston, Mass., next year. She is now making a tour in Sullivan county organizing unions and is making dates in her own county for lectures and institutes in the near future.

She addressed about 400 people at the M. E. church recently on Sunday evening in Sayre and the following Sabbath gave an address in the Milltown chapel. The press superintendent of Athens writes that the union meets every week with an attendance of from 25 to 40, holding especially interesting meetings. This union is the largest in the state (with the exception of West Philadelphia) having for its membership 144 and is fortunate in having Mrs. Norrish for local president.

Mrs. Lydia Brooks of East Troy union, gives a fine report of what the union at that place is doing. Mrs. Brooks is very enthusiastic over what the press is doing for the cause. She says in brief that their union was organized in 1904 with only five members but gradually increased until they number 20 active members and 18 honorary members. Mrs. Lydia Loller, the M. E. pastor's wife, is president this year and also county superintendent of medal contest work; Mrs. Ida Cole secretary, and Mrs. Lenora VanHorn treasurer. They have ten superintendents and the union meets the first Friday of each month. At the meeting in January they made arrangements to present Miss Frances Willard's picture to the public school Feb. 16 with appropriate exercises. The February meeting was in charge of Mrs. Ella Roberts, superintendent of Sabbath observance, which was a very helpful program. There were 10 questions and answers from which is gleaned the following: That we should obey the scripture injunction, "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy;" that people can do more and better work by resting one day in seven; that we are benefited in spirit, mind and body by keeping it; that the religious teaching given that day strengthens the life of our nation; that when we make Sunday a day of recreation it ceases to be a day of worship and soon becomes a day of pleasure seeking and a day of labor; that a few years ago 100,000 railroad men asked for Sunday rest and could not get it; that our greatest statesmen have said that the safety of our republic depends on our keeping it a holy day. This union carried off the new membership banner at county convention for the largest increase in new members and they are trying hard to be able to keep it another year. Rev. W. H. S. Loller gave a grand and logical sermon on Worlds Temperance Sunday and the W. C. T. U. attended in a body. While in the midst of such a year of blessings, shadows have crept in by the way of death taking several active members and one honorary member. Onward christian soldiers to the work for God and home and every land.

The new Albany union has been holding prayer circles on Friday afternoons every two weeks for the past two months, praying God for the sake of the boys and children of the town and vicinity that the liquor cause might be abolished from the place. We come to face the fact that God never placed the drink here and he will never remove it without the aid of human agents. We are glad to know that the temperance sentiment is growing and many who strongly advocated license a year ago would not sign a petition for it this year. Mrs. Norrish is expected at New Albany the 19th to make some plans for an institute, also the county convention which meets at New Albany this year.

Shot Two Bears.

D. S. Ulmer and Charles Babcock of Jersey Shore, recently shot two bears, one weighing 200 pounds and the other 250 pounds. One of the bears was on a ledge on a steep ridge, and when shot tumbled down a gully a distance of 600 feet.

Free From Disease.

A fine herd of Jersey cattle owned by Benjamin Corson of Powell was inspected and tested with tuberculin on Feb. 17 and 18 and found free from disease. Dr. R. G. Rice made the inspection.

ASH WEDNESDAY.

Lent, the Penetential Season, Will Start on February 28.

Lent, the penetential season, will begin Wednesday, Feb. 28, the fortieth day before Easter, which this year falls on Sunday, April 15. Palm Sunday this year falls on April 8; Maundy Thursday and Good Friday on the 12th and 13th of the month. Septuagesima Sunday, the third Sunday before Lent and the seventieth day—reckoning in round numbers—before Easter, occurred on Feb. 11. Sexagesima Sunday on Feb. 25.

Originally the time extending from Septuagesima Sunday to Ash Wednesday was known and observed as Shrovetide. Shrovetide means confession time. In the early days of the church the whole period after Septuagesima Sunday seems to have been a time for preparation for the penetential season of Lent, the chief part of which preparation consisted in receiving the sacrament of penance—in being "shriven" or confessing. In the modern discipline of the Roman Catholic church a trace of this is still preserved, as in many countries the time of confession, which precedes the Paschal, or Easter communion commences from Shrovetide.

REWARD FOR OTIS.

Missing Man's Wife Offers It—Broken Boat Identified.

The broken boat found some time ago at Standing Stone, and which it was thought might have carried Albert R. Otis of Sylvara down the river on the night of Jan. 6, when he disappeared, has been identified as belonging to Fred Schultz of East Towanda. Mr. Schultz left the boat tied up last Fall just above the dam, and he does not know when it was taken from its mooring.

Mrs. Otis, wife of the missing man, is constantly hearing improbable stories concerning her husband. She offers a reward of $200 for information that will lead to his recovery, either dead or alive.

NICHOLS WATER SYSTEM.

To Be Put in by Company in Which Towanda Man Is Interested.

A water works system is to be put in at Nichols, N. Y., the coming season, and ex-Register and Recorder William J. McCabe is one of the promoters of the project. It is said there is an abundance of water within easy reach, and that, too, without pumping from the Susquehanna river.

Nichols is to ben congratulated upon securing a system of water works as nothing is better for the health of a community than good water and plenty of it.

Pen and Ink Work.

In the window of Eilenberger & McNeal's store on Main street there is an unusually fine specimen of pen and ink work by Miss Virginia Eilenberger. The picture is a copy of one of Gibson's heads and is done with fine skill and exactness.

D. T. EVANS

We once knew of a man who made good money by buying rundown farms and restoring their fertility and then reselling them at a very substantial advance in price. The wise farmer will tend to this matter for himself.

Most ladies love flowers, and a general favorite with them is the pansy. Right now in February is a good time to get a paper of pansy seed and sow it in a box to be kept in the kitchen and so get the young plant well started by the time that spring comes.

The west is enjoying a rather remarkable winter, more open and mild in type than any which has visited that section since 1856. Stock has had the run of the fields up to February, and hardly any draft has been made upon forage supplies, the blue grass pastures seeming to afford an abundance of palatable food.

One corn raiser and a very successful one tells us that he can add ten bushels per acre to his yield of corn by simply giving the field a thorough hand hoeing after the corn is laid by in July and cutting out all the barren stalks. If this is true it is something worth knowing, as the extra yield of corn would more than pay for the work.

The merchant who counts upon his country trade to work off his odds and ends need not go around howling because the mail order houses are getting his trade. The time has passed when, because of remotely located trading points and meager knowledge of prices and quality, the farmer can be sold any old thing. Nowadays the man in the country is generally as well posted and knows as well what he wants as many of the people in the towns.

An interesting object lesson for the farmer who is indifferent to the necessity of proper crop rotation and soil renewal is found in some districts of the south where land which had been cropped to death is being increased in value from 50 to 100 per cent by the scientific employment of fertilizers and the practice of crop rotation. The good seed gospel is a great one, but it can never prosper to any great extent unless hitched up with the gospel of good soil brought about by a proper care of the same.

While most farmers are quick to appreciate the value of good blood in all their breeding animals many are strangely reluctant to apply the same rule to the seed sown and planted in their fields. It matters not whether it be corn or any of the small grains, the fact remains that the poor and inferior seed if sown or planted is certain to be the prime begetter of a poor and inferior crop. No work done on the farm is so well paid as is that devoted to careful selection and thorough preparation of the seed to be sown.

The men who undertake for the first time the job of feeding a carload of steers for the market nearly always come out losers. The profitable feeding of steers is just as much of a special business as dairying. The usual cause of such failure is the fact that they pay too much for their feeders and nine times out of ten buy the wrong kind; then they quite often sell at the wrong time. The safest thing a man can do who wants to take up this line of business is to go and work for some successful feeder for a year and learn the A B C of the business.

Here is a new scheme on hog stealing: A large stock raiser became satisfied that in some manner or other his hogs, which had the run of a large lot, were being stolen, but as there was never any squealing in the yard he could get no clew to the matter. He finally hired a detective and presently found out that a man who had previously been in his employ would drive the team at night up to the hog lot and, fastening a large sponge on the end of a stick, would saturate it with chloroform and then go to the sleeping hogs and soon have some of them in a condition where they were easily handled and put into the wagon without any fuss.

North of latitude 42 degrees it will be found, taking a series of years, that it will be safer and more profitable to plant varieties of corn which will ripen within a period of 100 days than it will to grow the larger and later maturing kind. The temptation to grow big corn along the northern limit of the corn belt costs the corn growers of that latitude a vast sum of money each year. For, while they can raise the big corn and the big ears, it is only rarely that it is enabled to properly mature before the frost catches it. It is every way better for a man to have his cribs filled with a thousand bushels of good sound corn which will keep than it is to have 1,500 bushels of soft and immature corn which he must feed out at once in order to save.

The common striped gopher is not altogether a pest on the farm, for, while it will frequently dig up some corn, it will at the same time destroy an enormous number of cutworms, which pests are a very favorite food of the gopher.

THE WEALTHY APPLE.

On the first day of February we had Wealthy apples grown in northern Iowa in perfect condition, kept in the cool, dry cellar since they were picked in September. The northwestern greening apple has had to wait some time to secure the place and recognition to which it is fairly entitled. It now appears that this apple is hardy and productive over a very large territory of the northwest which heretofore has had no winter apple upon which it could depend. We do not hesitate to recommend it as a winter apple for any of the territory of the northwest north of 42 degrees. It seems to be perfectly hardy, and, while late in coming into bearing, not bearing much fruit until it is ten years old, it will after that time prove a regular and productive bearer. While the apple is not high in quality it is usually large and handsome and is in every way a better fruit than the Ben Davis for all purposes. We think so highly of this apple that we should regard it as an almost certainly safe investment to plant from twenty to forty acres of it, feeling assured that in ten years thereafter it would return a very handsome income.

AS TO SALT.

A reader asks if the craving for salt by nearly all our domestic animals is a natural or acquired taste and how, if it is a natural taste, the wild animals were ever able to satisfy it in a saltless country. This craving for salt is without doubt a natural one, and in the case of wild animals was largely satisfied by the use of water more or less saline and by the eating of vegetation carrying a certain per cent of saline matter. The old salt licks, notably in Kentucky and other states, attracted the deer from a large adjacent territory, while the well worn trails of the mountain sheep and goats can be found in the mountains of Montana and Wyoming leading to some saline spring. The fact is well recognized that with our domestic animals a supply of salt is almost indispensable, this being especially true with the dairy cow, which will respond with great certainty in her milk supply just as a supply of salt is furnished or withheld.

Water and air, two of the essentials of life, have been so long free to all that it is hard for people to accommodate themselves, as they are being more and more compelled to do, to the idea of economizing in their use. The figure "free as air" is no longer apropos with large portions of the world's population which is congested in the unhealthy confines of the larger cities, while the question of pure water even at a price is often a serious one.

Some attention is being paid by western farmers to the low priced farms of the east. The western farmer should approach this subject with much caution, for on many of these farms the soil is gone beyond redemption, so eroded, so burned out with commercial fertilizers, that there is nothing to work on. The improvements, the markets, the transportation facilities, the water supply may all be of the highest order, but if the soil is dead these things are dear at any price.

Whether a man likes to do it or not, the time has come when in the conduct of his farm he is simply compelled to closely study in every way possible how to make a machine take the place and do the work of a man. In fact, successful farming is becoming more and more a matter of the sensible handling of machinery. The most expensive machine on any farm and the one most difficult to handle is the hired man. He is the oftenest out of repair and needs the most careful attention.

So small a matter as the shrinkage on the shipment of stock to market proved the turning point on which the sale of a large farm hinged recently. The farm was a very desirable one, and the would be buyer was a man from northern Illinois, where equally good land commanded a price of $150 per acre, while the farm which he sought to buy could be had for $75 per acre, but was forty-five hours from market. Figuring up the shrinkage on car lots of hogs and cattle, he decided to buy the higher priced land nearer to market.

Man is essentially a selfish creature, and his conception of what is ultimately the best is often distorted by the alluring prospect of immediate material gain. In no case is this better illustrated than in the destruction of the magnificent forests which have for ages been a source of beauty and pleasure, but which are rapidly disappearing before the greedy ax. The lofty redwoods of California, centuries old before the white man first set his foot upon the virgin soil of the continent, are sacrificed to the demands of commerce and yield their ancient trunks to provide material for piano legs and bedroom suits and with their annihilation passes forever what should be one of the most glorious birthrights of future generations.

We overheard recently some ladies talking about the woman who did their washing. They admitted that the work was well done, the clothes returned immaculately clean and white. At the same time they made a slurring comment upon the social position which this woman occupied. Why should they do this? What is there unlady like connected with the woman and the washtub? Doing this work for others, why should it place a social ban upon her? In the cities a young man whose business it is to sort out the dirty duds which come to a public laundry and do up and deliver the laundered goods can move in the best society. The more civilized we become the more dirty work there is to do, the more clean clothes are needed, and it serves women just right if by foolishly placing a social ban on those of their sex who do this dirty work they often find themselves unable to secure much needed assistance in the doing of it.

TUBERCULOSIS AMONG THE HOGS.

The serious question of the existence of tuberculosis among the hogs in the corn belt is one that is attracting a great deal of attention, as well it may. It has been generally supposed this disease has been confined to the bovine animals and that the hog is rarely afflicted with it. This conclusion is wholly wrong, as the slaughter tests at the stockyards of the country show that it is becoming a very common thing, so common that certain of the hog producing sections of the country have become blacklisted in the markets, and buyers are instructed to refuse to take any hogs from such blacklisted territory, owing to the large per cent of the hogs which at the packing houses are condemned as being affected with tuberculosis and which are sent to the rendering tanks. One of the largest of the packing houses in Chicago reports the loss from hogs condemned for this cause to have been $700,000 during the past year, and a general movement is now on foot by the packers to make the growers of these infected hogs stand the loss which accrues from this source. It is of interest to note in this connection that this blacklisted section of the country represents the dairy sections where the hogs are largely raised on the biproducts of the dairy—skimmed milk, buttermilk, etc.—showing conclusively a very close relation between the tubercular cow and the tubercular hog. If as it is generally admitted, the use o milk from a tubercular cow will engender the disease in the human being it is easy to account for the spread of the disease among the hogs and, further, easy to see how the use of a meat product so infected may become a prolific source of still further infection. So serious has this matter become not only from its possible danger to human life, but as affecting the profits of the hog business at large, that the matter demands the prompt and united attention of our government and state authorities. It is almost useless to take action to use sanitation for the treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis while such provoking causes of the great white plague are permitted to exist.

FINE OUTLOOK FOR SHEEP.

The sheep industry never looked more promising than it does today. It looks as though it would be impossible to so increase the production of wool and mutton that either would fall in price to a point where it would not be profitable to produce them, especially in the line of meat. This is true for the reason that all the meat eating countries are demanding more and more mutton. We believe that in connection with the farms of the corn belt the sheep can be made just as profitable as the hog. In a way the sheep is a scavenger in that it lives largely on food rejected by other animals. It is a better farm fertilizer than the hog and enjoys a much greater degree of freedom from disease. It is also true that a pound of mutton can be produced on a corn belt farm as cheaply as a pound of pork or beef, and the prospect is that a producer would receive more for his pound of mutton in the market than he will for either his beef or pork. Taking the outlook as it is, we should regard the putting of a hundred ewes of some good mutton breed on the average quarter section farm as one of the very best things that could be done.

SCIENTIFIC TILLAGE.

A friend writing to us from southwestern Nebraska gives a very glowing picture of the agricultural prosperity which prevails in that section. The discovery that winter wheat could be most successfully grown on what had always been considered land worthless for any other purpose than pasture and the further fact that the growing of alfalfa is proving a wonderful success have together brought a wonderful and radical change in the condition and prospects of that country. Coupled with these things has come for two or three years past an unusual amount of rainfall during the growing season, which has resulted in the production of very large and very profitable crops of wheat and corn. By some it is thought that the cultivation of the land has brought about a permanent change in the amount of rainfall, but this is probably an error, and the probabilities are that dry seasons will return and climatic conditions be as they always have been. Much has been learned, however, in the line of methods of culture which have for their object the conserving of the moisture, and by these methods it is now claimed that great success is obtainable.

For the farmer who cannot afford the time to attend to his lawn with a lawn mower a few sheep will be found an excellent substitute and will pay a good return in keeping the home place trimmed up.

A reader in Michigan wishes to know how to prepare a piece of land for onions. This work should be done the year before the crop is raised. A good way is to plow under a good heavy crop of clover or cowpeas along in July or August. This forms a good foundation for either potatoes or onions for the next year.

It is probably true that quack grass is the worst seed of all that western farmers have to contend with, the hardest to get rid of when once it gets a foothold. And the worst of the case is that thousands of farmers are letting this pest gain a lodgment on their farms and either do not know what it means or else do not care.

One of the most successful methods of ridding a place of rats is to shoot them with a small rifle. If fed a little they will come out of their holes in the evening and offer an easy mark, and the shooting of them is considered pretty fine sport by the boys. We once rid our place of them entirely by this method when cats and traps had utterly failed in the work.

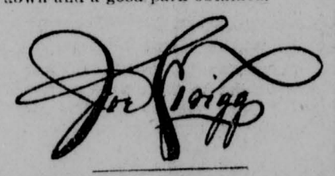
TILE DRAINING WET LAND.

Many a man throughout the wet section of the country is up against the proposition of either tile draining his farm or going dead broke. This is a condition which confronts him and is not a theory. For years he has tiled his lands, seeded and plowed them, only to have his crop destroyed and his labor lost by an excess of water during the growing season, which at best is a most discouraging situation. Now, these wet lands when properly tiled are almost without exception the most productive of all lands, and so tiled not only insure a good crop in a wet season, but also in a dry one, for tile drainage works two ways—it dries the land in a wet time and furnishes needed moisture to the soil in a dry time. As it looks to us, the owners of such land will do well to look the situation in the face and decide that it is worse than useless to continue to work such land in its present undrained condition. If there is no other way out of the dilemma, better sell one half of the farm and tile drain the other half or borrow money with which to do the job, for this is the one farm improvement which will well justify the borrowing of money to do. The cost of tile draining if properly done will run from $18 to $20 per acre, and instances are plentiful the past season where the crop the past year—the extra crop—has been enough to cover all the expense. There is no sense in figuring how to get hold of more land to work at home or far off so long as there are good acres on the old farm which may be reclaimed at an expense of not to exceed $20 per acre, and this better land than can be bought anywhere. We know of hundreds of farms where this reclamation work can be started to the greatest advantage. Mistakes are made in tile drainage of land, but they are almost wholly connected with the neglect to have a proper survey of the area to be so drained, the failure to secure sufficient fall for the water and dig the ditches deep enough, and perhaps more than any other thing the tendency to use tile of too small a diameter. Draintile of three inches are too small for general use save for short lateral lines of tile, and none less than four inches in diameter should ever be used. We know of a case where $500 worth of tiling had to be all pulled up and relaid with four inch tile. And it is not the sloughs and wet spots on the farm which alone may be benefited by tiling, but there is many a seep on the hillside which a little tile draining will remove and make productive. More than in any other way the attention of road builders and workers should be called to the great value of tile for the highway to rid it of the subsoil moisture. Many an almost impassable quagmire of a country highway has been completely reconstructed by the laying of two lines of draintile, one just outside each wagon track, making such highway from being the very worst to be found in the township by all odds the best road to be found in the community. Men all over the wet sections should wake up to the great reforms connected with the intelligent use of draintile.

STARTING A PARK.

We notice in many of our smaller towns attempts being made to secure public parks, and it is very frequently done by taking a piece of ground covered with sod and planting young trees in holes dug in such sod. From the very nature of things a tree so planted can never be a success. They are almost sure to perish. If a park is desired the better way is to plow the whole tract deeply, and if it is well fertilized so much the better. The next year the land should be put in the best possible condition, when the trees may be planted and some crop put on the land that would require a thorough cultivation. So planted the trees will grow healthy and thrifty, and at the end of two years the lot may be seeded down and a good park obtained.



Twenty Thousand Idle Farms.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18.—The state department of agriculture has issued the first bulletin of the bureau of statistics and information connected with the department. It contains an illustrated list of farms, occupied and unoccupied, which are now for sale in the state. The bulletin describes some 1,700 farms of all kinds in all parts of the state. According to statistics gathered from supervisors' reports, there are 20,000 farms for sale in this state, which would give employment to over 50,000 people.

To Reduce Fare on New Haven Road.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 18.—It was learned here that the directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the meeting in New York voted to reduce the passenger rate on the Berkshire division of the system from 2½ cents to 2 cents per mile. This reduction, which was made on recommendation of President Mellen, is to take effect March 1. President Mellen was also directed to investigate and report on the advisability of making a similar reduction on the Naugatuck and Northampton divisions.

EAST SMITHFIELD.

Mrs. Jane Gerould Ballentine, wife of Rev. George Ballentine, died Saturday morning. The funeral was held at the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Ballentine had not been well for some time but her condition was not considered dangerous until a day or two before she died. She was highly esteemed and the entire community mourn with the grief-stricken family. She leaves three sons and four daughters.

Another death, that of Mrs. J. H. Nason, of Wisconsin, is painful news to a large circle of her friends in this section. Rev. J. H. Nason was a pastor of the Congregational church during the seventies.

Miss Dora David of this place, was married Jan. 13, at Elkins, West Virginia, to Lily J. Nelson. Mr. Nelson was formerly of Towanda.

The roll call last Saturday was exceedingly pleasant. Several out-of-town members were welcome guests. Rev. Percy of this village, read an original poem and Rev. M. B. Wood of Sayre, gave a pleasant talk. Rev. M. B. Wood preached in the morning and the W. C. T. U. held a memorial meeting in the same church, Disciple, in the evening. A part of the evening was given to eulogies of Miss Frances Willard and the remainder was spent explaining the shocking condition of Mormon life.

Mrs. Jessie Brigham is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Clark. Mrs. Brigham came from Laquin, where she has een staying with her daughter, Mrs. Coon, wife of former principal, now Dr. Coon.

Remember that Rev. J. P. Topping is to come from Boston this week and will preach in the church of the Disciples, Sunday.

WARREN CENTER.

G. B. Sleeper is still in very poor health.

Nathan Newman is improving; they made him a wood bee last week and cut a nice lot of wood.

Mr. Conklin of Ohio, spent two days last week at Fred Chaffee's.

Mrs. Ritter of Owego, is spending some time at Eli Brownson's.

Miss N. A. Currier is assisting Mrs. Spencer Brainerd.

E. B. Canfield, wife and son of South Warren, recently spent a day with his sister, Mrs. Fred Chaffee.

C. L. Abell and family from near Wyalusing, are with her parents; they will move here soon.

Mrs. D. A. Corbin is spending some time in Binghamton visiting friends.

Guy Martin of West Warren, has hired out to Kinney & Sleeper; he will move here in the near future.

WARRENHAM.

Mrs. James Hickey has received about $2,000 from the estate of her sister, Mrs. Johanna Kelley. She has bought Jerry Reagan's farm. Mrs. Kelley's nephew, Leo Connell, also received $800.

Andrew Dewing has been in Binghamton the past week helping Dewing Brothers put up their ice.

The sociable held by the Presbyterian society on Friday evening at Clarence Congdon's was largely attended, persons being present from South Owego, Waits, Cadis and Warren Center. The receipts were about $8.

There was no preaching at the Presbyterian church Sunday, Rev. R. M. Jones being called to Scranton by the death of his mother.

BURLINGTON.

Mrs. Rebecca Stanton returned Saturday from a visit to friends in New York state.

The Ladies' aid at the county house was well attended. Proceeds $25.

Mrs. James Dibble died last Tuesday, after a two weeks' illness. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn the loss of a kind wife and loving mother.

Mrs. A. P. Weldy returned Sunday from a visit to friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Spencer were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Campbell Saturday.

MOUNTAIN LAKE.

About 40 of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haight enjoyed a pleasant visit at their home on Friday last, it being a farewell visit before their going to Athens. They will be greatly missed in this community. Remember the Art society dinner at his house on the day of his sale, Saturday, Feb. 24.

Mrs. Nichols is still very feeble. Samuel Wiggins is no better.

BUMPVILLE.

Milton Payne made a business trip to Towanda on Friday.

Miss Bertha Arnold has gone to Summit, N. J., where she has a position.

The funeral of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Richards was held here at the church on Thursday. Rev. E. D. Cavanaugh officiating.

There will be an oyster supper at L. E. Arnold's Thursday evening, Feb. 22; proceeds towards repairing the church.

THE BEST COUGH CURE

Cough syrups are all cheap enough, but if you should get a gallon of cough syrup that does not cure for the price of a small bottle of the best cough cure, you would have made a bad bargain—for one small bottle of Kemp's Balsam may stop the worst cough and save a life, whereas the cough "cure" that does not cure is worse than useless.

DEATH ROLL OF A WEEK

Mrs Clark Willson

Mrs. Clark Willson died at her home on North Main street at 3 o'clock Thursday morning of heart failure, aged 64 years. She had been a sufferer for some time from heart trouble, and her death was not therefore entirely unexpected; she had not been confined to the house, but a few days before her death having been present at a missionary society of the M. E. church, and apparently in her usual health.

Mrs. Willson was a sister of P. P. Bliss of sacred song celebrity—who with his wife was burned in the terrible Ashtabula railroad horror back in the '70's, and for whom a monument was erected by Sunday school subscriptions in the cemetery at Rome. Mrs. Willson was herself widely known in this country and in Great Britain as a singing evangelist of great power, and for three years Mr. and Mrs. Willson were coworkers with Francis Murphy in temperance work, and for more than 20 years in evangelistic work.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Willson leaves four children: Hiram F. Willson of Chicago, Fred E. Willson of Sayre, Mrs. E. M. Muir of Nanticoke and Mrs. Lora Brown of Jersey City.

TOWANDA, PA., FEBRUARY 22, 1906.

Nearly every preacher in Kittanning has used gambling as a theme during the last week, saying that playing cards for silverware, cut glass, pictures and other prizes is as much gambling as poker playing, wheels of fortune, crap and similar games.

Governor Pennypacker has signed the bills providing for personal registration in Philadelphia and second-class cities, for uniform primary elections throughout the state and for senatorial apportionment, as well as the bill to regulate the deposits of state funds.

The public has been complaining bitterly of the space devoted to the arrangements for the wedding of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Representative Nicholas Longworth but it really didn't mean it at all as there was a big demand for Sunday papers with full details of the great event.

The report of another Boxer uprising in China, which shall exterminate all foreigners, is not pleasant to contemplate. Evidently it is no idle threat, and it will be wise for all Americans to get out of the Celestial Empire as speedily as possible if they hope to escape the blind fury of the Mongolians.

Senator Knox of this state in conversation with a friend the other day, laughingly observed that if he had had any idea as to the amount of work he would have to perform he never would have taken the job as a member of the United States senate. "There seems to be absolutely no end to it," he said.

John Hay's article on Franklin in France is published posthumously in least one memorable sentence, the more memorable because it sums up the life of our first great statesman and man of letters, and was uttered by another American statesman who was also a man of letters: "To teach is better than to deny, to love and trust is wiser than to hate and doubt, to create is nobler than to destroy."

Of the four members of the house and one senator from Chester county during the extra legislative session, but one broke the pledge not to take any salary, and that was Representative Fred. H. Cope, of Lincoln university. The others, Senator Oscar E. Thomson and Representatives Franklin March, William Wayn and W. A. Parke Thompson served without pay.

The applications for trout fry which have been received by the state fish hatcheries number 3,370. These do not include applications for trout for the state forestry reserves. At a meeting of the superintendents of the fish hatcheries, at which Commissioner Meehan was present it was decided to give each applicant 1,500 trout. According to reports made at the meeting, there are now 9,600,000 trout in the various hatcheries of the state.

The untimely death of John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, was undoubtedly brought on by his prostration over the disclosures of alleged irregularities in the conduct of the affairs of that great insurance company, and especially the legislative lobbying through Andrew Hamilton. Mr. McCall's last days of agony are a warning to men that they must administer their trusts rightly or disaster will some day come upon them. In the days when he should be standing proudly before the people in honor won by an exemplary conduct of his office he became broken in health and finally succumbed to the effects of worry and the loss of respect of the general public.

The Inquirer commends the judges of the Luzerne courts for their prompt action in the matter of Col. C. Bow Dougherty's charges of jury fixing in that county, made at the recent Board of Trade banquet in Wilkes-Barre. Knowing Col. Dougherty as it does, it feels certain that he would not have said he could "have followed the trail of one fixer from a lawyer's office to a back room in a hotel where he held a conference with a juror," if he had not had good reasons for thinking he was right. Knowing Luzerne as it also does it also considers it probable that there has been more or less fixing business there as has been elsewhere. The thing to be commended, however, is the action of the court, which carries with it the notice—if it carried anything—that such fixing as is being done shall cease. It is morally certain that the courts themselves can put a stop to many of the corrupt practices which are constantly going on where there is no vigilance on the part of the judges, and we shall look to Luzerne for an example now that the issue has been made.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE SPECIAL SESSION.

The special session of the legislature, convened by the governor to enact certain reform measures, passed all but one of the subjects set forth in the proclamation. The one bill that failed was that of civil service reform for state offices, and that was postponed for the consideration of another legislature. This is an amazing record, and we believe that the people of the state will agree with the governor in pronouncing it the best session of the legislature since the civil war.

Undoubtedly the most important legislation of the session was that which related to the reform of our elections. While these laws fall far short of the ideal, they mark a distinct advance and their defects may be remedied after use has developed what they are. The Sheatz personal registration bill will do much to suppress the large bogus vote in the cities; the White-Sheatz uniform primaries law will go a long way toward preventing the manipulation of delegates in conventions, and dictating nominations in defiance of a majority of the voters; and the corrupt practices act will restrict the expenditure of money to legitimate political purposes. If the special session had accomplished nothing more than the enacting of these reform laws its benefits would be worth many times more than it cost. The outcome is fairly satisfactory to the people.

A SENATOR AND A RAILROAD.

Senator Tillman in his speech attacking railroad combinations had no better excuse for declaring that Senator Knox had been for years in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company than the generally entertained belief that the great corporation "runs things" in Pennsylvania and picks out the representatives of the commonwealth in the congress. At the time Senator Knox was elected it was generally bruited about that he would represent the railroad company first and the state afterward. But Tillman's assertion brought out an instant denial. Senator Knox said:

"I would like to interrupt the senator from South Carolina to say that I have never been the counsel of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, either permanently or temporarily, directly or indirectly, during by professional career. I do not apologize, as I do not consider holding such a position would require an apology."

This contradiction was very much to the point. No one who knows Senator Knox, remarks the Philadelphia Record, would think him incapable of properly drawing the line between his duty to his client and his duty to the state. If, as was asserted, the influence of President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad was exerted to put P. C. Knox in the seat made vacant by the death of M. S. Quay Mr. Cassatt laid the state under obligation. We have one senator who sizes up to requirement when he is called upon to speak for his great constituency.

Last Thursday was a hopeful and helpful day for Pennsylvania. The Harrisburg legislature finished up so many reforms as to be almost revolutionary and the senate at Washington passed the ship subsidy bill. Our protected coast and lake merchant vessels foot up 5,335,000 tons, while our vessels in the foreign trade, meeting world competition with its cheaper labor, can show only 880,000 tons. If the house will co-operate with the senate on this question the revival of our merchant marine in the foreign trade will begin forthwith.

The ambitious country lad had been reading the town papers. "Dad," he said at breakfast one morning, "I'm tired of this here farm life. I want to go to town and be a corporation lawyer or frenzied financier, or something of the kind." The old man frowned. "Don't talk such nonsense," he remonstrated. "If you really have a strong ambition to go to jail you can steal somebody's pig right around here without going to all the expense of going to town."—Chicago News.

Major Sylvester, chief of police in Washington, is required by law to make an annual report to congress showing how efficient his force is. This year the persons arrested are classified as gamblers, pickpockets, tramps, lawless characters, saloonkeepers, etc., but it is said that among the list were "one United States senator" and "two representatives in congress." Major Sylvester discreetly refuses to reveal the identity of these distinguished lawbreakers.

The tobacco dealers of Maryland are making strenuous opposition to an anti-cigarette bill now before the legislature of that state. If they had carefully watched the experience with laws against cigarettes in some of the states they would not be wildly concerned. We have an act here to prevent the selling or giving of cigarettes to minors, but it is not observed that it has any effect. The boys get their cigarettes and smoke them just the same.

General interest will be taken in the proceedings of the national conference on the subject of divorce, which is to assemble in Washington in pursuance of an invitation issued by Governor Pennypacker. Forty-two states are to be represented and the object will be to try to agree upon some plans for making the divorce laws uniform throughout the union.

When they read of "Handsome Harry" Lattimer languishing in a Calgarry bastile on a bare plank and two meals a day, Messrs. Gaynor and Greene must congratulate themselves on their acumen in selecting the eastern section of the Dominion as their place of exile.

THOSE RURAL MAIL BOXES.

Henry G. Newell of Orwell, a reader of the papers issued by this compan clipped out an editorial concerning the numbering of mail boxes on rural routes, the article taking the ground adverse to the practice as the patrons would be named by number only like the inmates of penal institutions. Mr. Newell sent the clipping to the postoffice department at Washington and received the following reply:

"For your information upon this subject you are advised that it was never intended, nor was it suggested, in conection with the numbering of mail boxes on rural routes that patrons of the service should abandon the use of their names and use the box numbers solely in their addresses; but for the purpose of better identification where there were numbers of patrons of the same surnames and initials, and to enable the more expeditious routing of mail by rurel carriers, the numbering of rural mail boxes was authorized, such numbers together with route numbers to be used in conjuction with the ordinary addresses by patrons. As a matter of fact, the delivery of mail by rural carriers to boxes on rural routes when adressed to such numbers only is at the present time prohibited."

At first the department allowed the delivery of mail where a letter was addressed as follows: "Box No. 40, R. F. D. No. 10, Wysox, Pa.," with absolutely no name on the mail matter. There was a general complaint country merchants who alleged that this gave city mail order houses an opportunity to ply on their trade without even learning the names of the persons to whom their big catalogues were sent. The department for some reason later withdrew the first provision and now demands that a package or letter shall have he name of the addressee. More or less confusion has arisen here from the use of the box number as oftentimes the wrong number is given and also the number of the box and the number of the route are confused.

THE YOUNG VOTER.

The London Contemporary Review for February prints a very intelligent summary of recent political developments in the United States. The overthrow of the bosses in Missouri, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Oregon, New Jersey and Massachusetts and the disclosures of magnificent graft in New York are rightly attributed to an outbreak of common honesty. There has been an expression of the fundamental virtue of the mass of the people. Respectable frauds in politics and finance have been pilloried in the public gaze.

"No more," says the writer in The Contemporary, "will the cry of party regularity be the whip to ho'd recalcitrants in line, compelling them to be apologists for the sins of the organization. The young man is broadening out; the political tradition of his father exerts little influence, especially if it means self-stultification; his sympathies have been widened. Party principles are no longer a cloak for corruptionists to masquerade under; they stand for something, and are not mere platitudes to beguile the innocent voter."

General Fred Grant thinks our army should engage in "a big war game" at least once in two years. That would be a pretty good way of informing belligerent nations that we shall be ready to play the game whenever they propose it.

Bacteriologists would do a great service if their attention were turned to a discovery of the poker germ. Many people are inoculated with it, quite a number of them being right in Towanda. Let's have a search for the poker germ.

A Philadelphia burglar, who died the other day in that city, left a written story of his life. He maintains that his methods were fully as creditable as those of some "Captains of Industry." Evidently he had a good opinion of himself.

Colonel Mann and Judge Deuel of Town Topics fame, must experience the feeling of the man who chopped off the head of the goose that provided the golden eggs.

When Uncle Sam finds one end of a railroad car with mail matter and Senator Platt fills the other end with express matter, which should pay the railroad company the greater rate for transportation, and why?

Nothing better illustrates the great decrease in the price of farming land in Lehigh valley than the fact that the famous Shimer farm, located at Shimersville, offered for sale a few days ago, was not sold because the bid was only $31.25 per acre. Years ago $150 an acre would have been considered very cheap.

Iowa is on the point of enacting a law that prohibits the remarriage of divorced persons with in a year, except to each other. As originally introduced the bill proposed to prohibit remarriage entirely, except in the case of the innocent spouse when the divorce was obtained on the ground of adultery, but this was deemed too radical a departure for the legislature to take in one jump, so the committee revised the bill. An informal canvass of members of the house leaves no room to doubt that the bill will be adopted by a large majority.

Dr. Brewster in a paper read before a meeting of the Homeopathic doctors of Scranton set forth the idea that all of the ailments of man are due to his diet. He has ten different varieties of the most common foods which he has outlawed. In the list are baked beans, bananas, nuts of all kinds, pop corn, dates, lobster, lean pork including ham and sausages, cheese and raisins. If we did not eat any of the above foods we would not be bothered with colds, so the doctor says. He claims that in investigating the mater for years he has yet to find a cold that he could not trace back to its cause, the eating of one of these foods. In the list given we find food that has been sustenance of men for centuries, and mankind will hardly accept Dr. Brewster's theory until further evidence be brought forward.

Governor Pennypacker, who himself contributed actively to the extra session's success, was entitled to say that better work had been done than at any other legislative session in the State,s history thinks the New York Tribune. Pennsylvanians, without regard to party, are delighted with the notable advances accomplished in good government. Every other state, too should take heart from the lesson taught by Pennsylvania's uprising. The will of the people, clearly expressed at one election, wrecked at a single stroke a political machine which had held itself to be invulnerable and converted a legislature wholly subservient to machine leadership into a willing and active instrument of political reformation. Pennsylvania's politicians have shown that they are ready to bow to public sentiment when that sentiment is once expressed, and in that they are wiser than their contemporaries. The bosses in other states who think they can outwit the public or tire it out would do well to study the lightning chonge transformation which has just taken place in Pennsylvania politics.

A number of visitors were present Friday at the presentation of Miss Frances Willard's photograph to the public school. Twelve members of the W. C. T. U. were present, and the president, Mrs. Loller, in her speech, showed how thoughtfully she had prepared it. Nothing was lacking to make it all beneficial and to do honor to the noble cause. Professor Calkins, in well chosen words, accepted the picture on behalf of the patrons of the school. The singing of the students was of the best. There were several short speeches by different ones, in fact all was done in accordance to the one whose honor it was in and we are sure that as the scholars gaze on the beautiful countenance of Miss Willard will try to live the pure and sweet life that she did, and when their time comes to die, they can say as she did, "How beautiful it is to be with God."

A company of young people of this place gave a St. Valentine surprise for C. Russell Farmer at his home Wednesday evening. In the midst of a very enjoyable time they were summoned to lunch, each one finding his or her place by souvenir hearts in colors. Sandwiches, pickles, cake and ice cream were served by Miss Elsie Farmer and Harry Brooks. Each one was called from the table by the postman to receive one or more valentines at the valentine postoffice. A jolly time ensued while an inspection of valentines was being made. All departed telling the host of a delightful time.

HERE AT HOME.

Towanda Citizens Gladly Testify.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Towanda citizen:

John Merithew, employed in Toy Factory, living at 105 Pratt Avenue, says: "About seven years ago I had a severe attack of backache. It was similar to other attacks, but it lasted longer and finally compelled me to quit work. Every turn of sudden move hurt. I could not rest with any comfort and had to lay in just one position or suffer the consequences which were sharp twinges of pain through the small of my back. The remedies I used did not prove satisfactory and when I read about Doan's Kidney Pills I sent to a drug store and procured a box. I was in such distress that I used them more freely than the directions called for. I may have been wrong in doing so, but the end justified the means, for in a short time the pains grew less and less, and finally disappeared entirely. My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today is stronger than ever. I have used them from time to time since, and in every case they have acted promptly and effectively. I cheerfully endorse my first statement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Elias Day, who appeared at Hale's Opera House last week, is a cousin of J. G. Keeler of LeRaysville, V. Day Keeler and R. R. Vaughan of Wyalusing. J. G. Keeler and Mr. Vaughn spent Friday in Towanda with Mr. Day.

Anna M. Branda has issued a public appeal to the women of Scranton to claim a right to vote at the coming election, declaring that "no state law can withhold from them those privileges conferred by the United States of America."

The Washington avenue depot of the Erie railroad at Scranton was entirely destroyed by fire at an early hour on Wednesday of last week as were four passenger coaches. A combination baggage and express car was badly damaged.

Samuel Woodford, who for over 40 years has been a resident of Towanda, celebrated his 88th birthday on Saturday. Mr. Woodford was out on Tuesday the first time in about two weeks, having been confined to his house by injuries received in a fall.

PITTSBURG, BINGHAMTON & EASTERN ANNUAL MEETING.

Directors Elected and Plans Considered for Construction.

The stockholders of the Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern railroad company held their annual meeting at the general offices of the company in the Ontario block yesterday afternoon, at which time the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: E. H. Gay, J. W. Jackson and R. C. Storey of Boston, Eliot Norton of New York, C. F. Wright of Susquehanna, I. N. Beardslee and Daniel Innes of Canton, D. T. Evans, E. F. Kizer, C. L. Tracy and Benj. Kuykendall, Jr., of Towanda.

At a subsequent meeting of the board of directors, the following officers were chosen:

President—F. A. Sawyer.
Vice President—Eliot Norton.
Secretary—B. Kuykendall, Jr.
Treasurer—C. F. Wright.
Assistant Treasurer—E. H. Gay.

No information was given out for publication concerning the plans for beginning construction, but the general impression is that the arrangements are progressing, and that at an early day work will begin. The Boston banking house of E. H. Gay & Co. is largely interested in the enterprise; Mr. Gay himself is assistant treasurer, and one of his partners has been appointed second assistant treasurer, and another partner, Mr. Jackson, is on the board of directors.

Such men as these do not interest themselves in railroad projects for the fun of the thing, but are looking for results. The appointment of C. E. Webster as chief engineer of the company is a good one, as he understands the work thoroughly, and it is expected there will be "something doing" for him soon.

There was a vast amount of routine business done at the directors' meeting, and everything now looks as though they were out for business.

LOCAL PASTOR'S WORK.

Discussion by Rev. Heermans Entitled "Day Dreams of the Kingdom."

"Day Dreams of the Kingdom" is the title of an interesting discussion on "God Manifest in the Flesh" and "Doctrine of Atonement" by Rev. W. S. H. Heermans of Towanda. The author says in the preface that "Day Dreams are meditations upon things that are not yet. If they were, to meditate upon them would not be dreaming. Dreams are not prophesies, whether they be day dreams or night dreams. While they are not certainties, some night dreams are possible while some are impossible, but day dreams of the Kingdom being meditations upon revealed truth are possible although not certain. They are the apprehension of the prayer, "Thy Kingdom come on earth as it is in Heaven." If that shall be, the dreams will be realized. This ought to have been long ago, but was not; ought to be now but is not; ought to be and may be in the future, but may never be. Day dreams of the Kingdom are for the purpose of bringing in the Kingdom."

These meditations concerning God's Kingdom seem to us most profitable. The booklet may be had by addressing the author.—Northern Christian Advocate.

The price of the booklets is 10 cents and they are for sale at Boyle's Book store and the Dickens Book shop.

A Young Girl Drunk.

Thursday night Special Officer V. Pennell brought to the Towanda lockup a girl by the name of Parker, who is but 14 years old. The girl was found lying out in the snow on Charles street and was dead drunk. Officers Miller and Hollon have started an investigation to find out who furnished the girl the liquor and who let her remain out in the cold. The case rivals the slums of New York in its depravity.

Visiting Here.

Hersey Mc Watkins, son of Hersey Watkins, who when a young man lived in Towanda, has been visiting at the home of Hon. W. T. Davies for a few days. The elder Mr. Watkins was a brother of Mrs. Davies. The son is on his way back to Portland, Ore., where he resides, from Panama where he has spent the past seven months in work under the government.

Athens and Its Oil Well.

"It would be well for the subpoena servers who have thus far failed to locate John D. Rockefeller" said an Athens man the other day, "to search Joe McKinney's woods, for perhaps the wily oil magnate is watching the drilling operations of the Athens Mining & Developing company with the hope that if there's anything doing, he may get in on the ground floor."—Athens News.

Old Residents Here.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Goodwin have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Kirby here and other friends in this section. They left Bradford county 30 years ago and of late have been living in New York city and traveling considerably. Before leaving here Mr. Goodwin operated the large stone quarries at Quarry Glen.

Nelson—David.

Lilly J. Nelson of Towanda and Miss Dora David of East Smithfield were married at Elkins, West Virginia, Jan. 19, by Rev. J. E. Kildow.

Divorce Decreed.

A divorce has been decreed in the case of Leany Townsend vs. Jerry Townsend.

S. C. I. RECEPTION.

Guests Were Greatly Pleased at the Many Improvements Made.

A reception was given at the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute building on Saturday evening which was largely attended by the patrons and friends of the school. The reception was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Historical club, undr whose direction the home talent play was produced at Hale's Opera House on Thanksgiving night, the proceeds from which were used for the improvement of the building.

After meeting Principal and Mrs. Morrison and the other members of the school faculty, the guests were shown through the rooms of the first and second floors where the improvements have been made. The ground floor has the parlors, the library room and the chapel. The parlors are very handsome, the small office having been removed and added to the old Philomathean room. With a fine hardwood floor, handsome rugs, tables and pictures this room equals the reception room of the best schools.

The library and chapel have also been much improved as have three of the large recitation rooms on the second floor. The guests were greatly pleased with the improved appearance of the building and any friends of the school who have not yet visited it should do so. Refreshments were served at the reception and a general good time enjoyed.

A Fine Number.

The Scranton Tribune of Saturday contained an extra 12 page section devoted to the business interests of that great city of commerce and manufacture. On the first page was a pictured plan of the new union station to be erected over the Lackawanna river in the heart of the city and which will cost $4,500,000. It is to be built by a company of Scranton capitalists with the assistance of the railroad and trolley companies. The ordinance granting a franchise for this improvement was signed by the mayor on Feb. 5.

S. & N. Y. New Engine.

The Susquehanna & New York railroad company has just received a new freight engine for use on its line. The engine was made for the company by the Baldwin Locomotive works of Philadelphia and is of handsome design. It weighs about 125 tons, has six drivers and is built with the boiler elevated to a considerable height. The locomotive will be used on the local freight running from Towanda to Ralston and will be in charge of Engineer James Madden. It has been numbered 112.

Poison in Horse's Food.

George W. Franklin, who lives near Quary Glen, went home from Towanda as usual the other night, and gave his horse a feed of chop, which the animal refused to eat. Mr. Franklin threw the chop out and gave the animal oats. His chickens the next morning ate the chop thrown out, and 18 out of the 20 died. While Mr. Franklin knows the feed must have been poisoned, he does not pretend to know who did it.

Court Notes.

The application for a tavern license of John W. Powers of South Waverly, has been refused by the court. That of Walter W. Ferguson of Athens, for a bottler's license has been granted.

Troy court will be held during the week beginning Monday, March 26. No order has yet been made in regard to the time of holding court for the trial of Charles Johnson for murder.

Boyce—Berge.

DeWitt Boyce of Troy, and Miss Hilda Berge of Arnot, were married in Elmira on Saturday, Feb. 10, and they will make their home here. The bridegroom is a valued employee of the Troy Shoe company, limited. Felicitations were showered upon the happy couple upon their return on the late train Saturday night.—Troy Gazette-Register.

Formerly Lived Here.

Peter Elliott, son of T. J. Elliott, who was at one time superintendent of the chair factory in Towanda, is working with several other men of the Pennsylvania & New York Telegraph and Telephone company in the installation of a new telephone system at the court house. Mr. Elliott's home is now in Elmira.

Suit in Court.

Common pleas court is in session this week with Judge A. C. Fanning on the bench. The first suit up is that of Edward E. Pease vs. Samuel Doane, O. L. Haverly, terre tenant and real owner. William Maxwell appears for the plaintiff and R. A. Mercur and J. T. Corbin for the defendant.

Those Skunk Cases.

Justice Meredith listened to the skunk cases from Tuscarora at his office on Saturday. Oliver Jackson and Hugh Gross were charged by O. B. Kope with the larceny of a number of skunk skins. The justice held Gross for trial and discharged Jackson.

A Colonial Tea.

George Clymer Chapter D. A. R. have issued invitations for a Colonial tea to be given on Thursday, Feb. 22, from 5 to 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. A. Mercur, corner Third and Poplar streets.

Celebrated Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Winter celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage Monday night at their home on Pine street. A company of ladies and gentlemen were entertained at cards.

WILLIAM FOYLE ELECTED BURGESS OF TOWANDA.

Light Vote Was Polled—Contest for Councilman in Third Ward.

The chief interest in the election in Towanda borough Tuesday was in the contest for burgess between William Foyle, Esq., the Republican nominee, and Calvin Cranska, the choice of the Democrats. Towner, Rome; Geo. L. VanScoten, Athens; George L. Wolf, Columbia; Frank O. Ward, Sayre; Jacob G. Westbrook, Athens; Delbert West, LeRoy.

An Old Ex-Resident.

John K. Bingham of Merdon, Missouri, a brother of the late Mrs. Emily Felton, is visiting relatives in Towanda. Mr. Bingham was born in North Towanda 81 years ago. When he was four years old his parents moved to Towanda and lived in a house which stood where now stands the Presbyterian church. Early in life he went west and has since been a resident of the western states. Although an old man, Mr. Bingham is in excellent health and leads an active life. He did business in Chicago when that place was a town about the size Towanda is now.

To Build at Canton.

The W. W. Gleckner & Sons Co. of Canton, have purchased a lot on Sullivan street of Byron Crawford, and also one of C. E. Bullock, and in the Spring expect to build a new factory. The concern is doing a large wholesale and manufacturing business in harness and have outgrown their present quarters. They own several patents on harness specialties which have met with a big sale.

To Speak at Wysox.

Hon. Mortimer Whitehead will speak at the Brick Church at Wysox on Thursday evening, Feb. 22, at 7:30 o'clock. It will benefit any interested in agriculture and the grange to come and hear him. The address will be given under the auspices of Wyalusing and Shores Hill granges. All invited. It is free to everyone.

A Big Egg, This.

Charles Davis of this place is undoubtedly the owner of the champion pullet of Bradford county. He exhibited this week an egg laid by a white leghorn pullet that measured 5½x7½ inches in circumference and weighed 3½ ounces. It was not a double yolk egg, either.—Canton Sentinel.

Injured by a Fall.

Mrs. A. F. Cowles of East Towanda fell on the sidewalk yesterday morning fell on the sidewalk last week and received fracture of the right leg. She was on her way to the station to take a train for Williamsport to visit her daughter, Mrs. Harry Chaapel, when the accident occurred.

ANNUAL TELEPHONE MEETING.

Local Independent Company Elects Directors and Officers.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bradford County Telephone Co. was held at the general offices of the company in Towanda Tuesday afternoon, the following directors being elected:

Edward Davis and E. M. Yarnall of Philadelphia; Colonel C. M. Clement of Sunbury; Charles L. Tracy, U. M. Fell, P. J. Smith, Edward Whalen, W. G. Tracy, George T. Ingham, William Maxwell, M. E. Horton and E. B. McKee.

At a subsequent meeting of the board, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President—Charles L. Tracy.
Vice-president—Edward Davis.
Secretary and Treasurer—E. M. Yarnall.

Reports of officers indicated that the past year had been a very satisfactory one, the business of the company having increased in every way.

York State Meeting.

The annual meeting of the directors of the New York State Telephone company was held in the company's offices in Elmira, Monday. It was shown that the company was enjoying unprecedented prosperity and that larger business has been enjoyed both locally and on the toll lines than during any previous year. The toll business has practically doubled.

The system has been extended in every locality and the connections with other independent companies have been effected, which enables the York State company to render more efficient service than ever. The annual report was most satisfactory in every way.

W. D. Barnard, the last president of the company, whose home was in Philadelphia, died last October, and it was necessary to choose a new president. The list of officers chosen was as follows: President, Edward Davis, Philadelphia; vice-president, Boyd McDowell, Elmira; secretary, Eugene Diven, Elmira; treasurer, E. M. Yarnall, Philadelphia. Among the members of the board of directors are U. M. Fell, E. B. McKee and Charles L. Tracy, Towanda.

SHUT-IN SOCIETY.

Those Desiring Help Should Send to Chairman at Philadelphia.

The Shut-In society was organized in New York city in 1877, for the purpose of bringing spiritual comfort and good cheer, by the exchange of leters, by visits and other tokens of remembrance, to those "shut-in" by chronic illness from the outside world. The society consists of Shut-in members, associate members and annual subscribers. Annual fees: Shut-ins, 50 cents; associates and subscribers, $1. The Open Window, the magazine of the society, is sent to all members on payment of their fees.

The Pennsylvania branch, organized in 1902, has cnarge of the work of the society in Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia. Wonder bags, hot water bags, reading matter, birthday cards, etc., are among the gifts of the branch to its Shut-in members. Wheel chairs, bed tables, bed rests, rocking chairs, etc., are loaned to them without cost, except freight. All invalid members of the Shut-in society are eligible for membership in the exchange maintained by the branch for the sale of their work.

Regular monthly meetings of the branch are held in Philadelphia on the second Friday of each month, from October to May inclusive, when reports of the different departments of the work are received. The branch desires to know of any invalids in Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia, to whom the society can bring good cheer; also any who wish to become associate or subscribing members of the society. Copies of The Open Window and further information in regard to the general society, may be obtained by writing to the chairman of the branch, Miss Mary Parker Nicholson, 3610 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

SENSATION AT WILKES-BARRE.

Colonel Dougherty Brought Into Court to Prove Charges of Jury Fixing.

A sensation was created at Wilkes-Barre on Monday of last week, when Judge Wheaton, speaking from the bench, delivered a scathing denunciation of the Taxpayers' association and Col. Dougherty of the Ninth regiment, who is connected with the association and concluded by directing the district attorney to bring Col. Dougherty into court, together with all the other officers of the association, if necessary, to prove the assertion that they had made concerning the fixing of juries in the county.

The judge did not mince any words in delivering his address on the question and when he terminated with his directions to the county prosecuting officer he had the breathless attention of everyone in the courtroom.

Judge Wheaton's remarks were brought forth by an advertisement which the association caused to be published extensvely offerng $6,000 reward for the conviction of jury bribers in the county, and by the further remarks of Col. Dougherty in his speech at the Wilkes-Barre board of trade banquet, when he dwelt at length on the subject.

The bench took as a personal affront the insinuations made by the association and the action of Judge Wheaton was the result.

Harold Chester Leib, aged 24 years, died of tuberculosis at his home at Wellsboro on Feb. 17. He was taken sick last May while a student in pharmacy at the Medico-Chirurgical college in Philadelphia.

PICTURES ASSIGNED.

Rooms of Public Schools Adorned With Fine Ones.

Mrs. Simon Rendall, Mrs. R. A. Mercur and Mrs. John M. Rahm, the committee appointed to distribute the collection of pictures secured by the Towanda public schools through the art exhibit held recently in the Ontario block, made their selection Monday and assigned the pictures as follows:

First ward—Miss Meredith's room, Lincoln; Miss Rickey, Longfellow; Miss Espy, Washington groupe.

Second ward—Miss White's room, Jefferson; Miss Young, Parthenon groupe; Miss Kelly, Forum; Miss Lewis, Mt. Vernon; Miss Kaufman, Poet's Corner; Miss McKean, Washington Crossing the Delaware; Miss Buttles, Hermes.

Third ward—Miss Mahoney, Franklin; Miss Gordon, Cornwallis; Miss Webb, Minute Man; Miss Sill, Concord Bridge; Miss Noble, Martha Washington; Miss Hoag, Shakespeare groupe.

These pictures form a handsome collection and it is the purpose of Principal Humphries to secure other pictures later.

The Days Were Excellent.

The entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Elias Day at Hale's Opera House Friday night gave fine satisfaction, the program being one of rare artistic merit. Mr. and Mrs. Day are both possessed of great talent in all their lines of platform work and each was accorded unstinted praise last night. Their entertainment was the second in the High school course, the first having been the fine performance by Maro, the magician.

New Sayre Hotel Men.

Del Higgins, formerly employed at Wiltse's cafe, and James Sullivan, recently with Hill & Biehaen, are the new proprietors of the Park hotel at Sayre, the license for that hostlerie having been transferred by the court last Saturday. Both gentlemen are well and favorably known in the northern part of the county and should prove eminently satisfactory as landlords.

Returns to Klondike.

After spending eight years in a search for gold in the Klondike, Charles French is visiting his relatives at Newberry. He is so enamored of the possibilities of the north that he will return next month to continue his delving.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Wife of Rev. Ezra Tinker, Formerly of Towanda, Took Gas Fatally.

Mrs. Sarah Jeanette Wright Tinker, wife of Rev. Ezra Tinker, D. D., Ph. D., pastor of the Methodist church at Lyons, N. Y., committed suicide at that place on Wednesday morning of last week by inhaling illuminating gas. She was the eldest daughter of the late Dr. S. H. Wright of Penn Yan, an eminent botanist and scientist, who died in Syracuse last Fall.

Her mother was the late Joanna McLean, well known in New York. Mrs. Tinker was born in Dundee, N. Y., 50 years ago and was married to Dr. Tinker 30 years ago. A son, Prof. Berling W. Tinker, is superintendent of the public school system at Waterbury, Conn. Dr. Tinker assumed the pastorate at Lyons after coming from the Brown Memorial church in Syracuse, last October. He had tendered his resignation, to take effect in April, when he was to take the State Street Methodist church at Bristol, R. I.

Dr. and Mrs. Tinker lived in Towanda about eight years ago when Dr. Tinker was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church His former congregation and friends here will deeply regret the tragic circumstances of his wife's death.

Bad for Young Girls.

Young girls must not attend dances so says Mrs. Bertels of the United Charities at Wilkes-Barre, and as a result a number of young girls under 15 were ejected from a public dance the other night. With their parents they were compelled to appear next day, and the parents stated in many cases that their daughters went to the dances, and reported they were somewhere else. The Wilkes-Barre movement is a good one—worthy of emulation in many other places.

Professor Benedict Here.

Professor Martin G. Benedict of Utica, N. Y., was in town on business on Saturday and spent Sunday here. Professor Benedict was at one time principal of the Towanda public schools and one of the best principals that the town has ever had. He is now at the head of the Utica schools with 10,000 scholars and 300 teachers under his charge. His many friends in Towanda were very much pleased to see him.

At Dubois on Monday two Italian children were burned to death in their home.

WEDDED PAIR HOUSED

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth at the Friendship, Near Capital.

RICE SPEEDS THEIR FLIGHT

Couple Escape In Fast Auto After People Had Been Decoyed Away—The East Room Ceremony Was One Long to Be Remembered.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The Roosevelt-Longworth wedding party has arrived at Friendship, the country home of John R. McLean, having made the six mile run in fifteen minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth left the White House by the south entrance, thereby avoiding a large and curious throng which had assembled in front of the mansion. Alone they entered a large automobile and were driven rapidly away. They went to the country home of John R. McLean, Friendship, a few miles from the heart of Washington, on the Tenleytown road. As the bridal couple entered the automobile they were showered with dainty slippers of rice, thrown by the brothers and sisters of the bride and by the younger members of the Roosevelt family connections who were present.

Mrs. Longworth was escorted to the big touring car by Major Charles McCawley, a long time friend and one of the social aids of President Roosevelt.

MRS. LONGWORTH.

Mr. Perkins, the bridegroom's best man, accompanied Mr. Longworth to the car. Standing on the south portico of the White House, the president and Mrs. Cowles and other members of the family bade the bridal couple godspeed and waived handkerchiefs to them until they were out of sight. Just as the automobile drew away from the White House an old shoe thrown by one of the ushers at the wedding alighted on the top of the machine, and it remained there so long as the car was in sight.

Scene During Ceremony.

With a circlet of virgin gold in the east room of the White House Alice Lee Roosevelt, eldest daughter of the president of the United States, and Nicholas Longworth, the representative in congress from the First district of Ohio, were united in marriage.

The ceremony, one of the most impressive ever performed in the executive mansion, was according to the rites of the Protestant Episcopal church, of which the bride is a member. It was solemnized by the Right Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee, bishop of Washington, and was attended by all the solemn state of a grand official function and by the devotional beauty of a cathedral service.

No ceremony of a similar kind ever was witnessed by a more distinguished assemblage. There were present as guests not only the most eminent representatives of the American government, but the personal missioners of the kings and potentates of the powers of the civilized world, constituting an assemblage not only one of the largest, but the most distinguished that ever was gathered at one time in the White House.

Quiet Wedding Impossible.

While the bride herself and the president and Mrs. Roosevelt had desired that the ceremony of the marriage should be as quiet and simple as possible, it was found impracticable to limit the function, as was intended at first, to the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom. It became necessary to include among the guests invited certain official classes and personal friends of Miss Roosevelt and Mr. Longworth, and in all the people bidden to the ceremony numbered a thousand.

The ceremony took place in the east room, made famous by a century of brilliant social functions, but no event in its history ever was so brilliant and beautiful as that of Saturday. The classic splendor of the great apartment was enhanced by exquisite and artistic decorations, and the brilliant sunlight of a gorgeous day lent added beauty to the setting of the wedding.

It had been intended to light the magnificent east room with the hundreds of softly shaded electric lamps of the great crystal chandaliers, but, while artificial lights were utilized throughout the remainder of the White House, it was determined to flood the marriage scene with sunlight.

It was a beautiful conceit, founded upon the pretty provern, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on." No lovelier day in winter ever dawned. The air was as balmy almost as spring. No more auspicious day for a wedding could have been imagined.

This is exactly how the White House bride was arrayed:

The wedding gown was lace of shimmering white satin princess. The upper portion of the bodice was of old rose point lace, an heirloom of the Lee family.

The guimpe was collarless and made of the point lace, below which fell two point lace berthas, which extended V shaped below the waistline in front and up over the shoulders in epaulet fashion, being held in the back on each side by sprays of artificial orange blossoms.

The skirt part of the gown fitted tightly above and about the waist and hips, falling into a full circular sweep below and into the train.

The elbow sleeves were made of ruffles or cascades of rose point lace upon a foundation of satin. The lace was two inches in width. They were met by long white mousquetaire gloves.

About her neck she wore a collar of diamonds and a necklace, the latter the gift of Mr. Longworth. The collar, about an inch deep, was made upon a platinum base in a graceful and intricate scroll design and was studded thickly with small diamonds, which gleamed and glistened in myriad colors about the slender neck of the young bride. Below this hung the string of diamonds, each one more than a carat in size and lightly set in platinum. Upon her chest, where the point lace bertha joined the guimpe in front, sparkled a magnificent brooch, two inches across, studded with large diamonds, in the center of which sparkled a splendid sapphire.

Her dark brown hair was dressed high in pompadour fashion and waved behind. From her coiffure fell the wedding veil of tulle, which was held in coronet fashion by a wreath of orange blossoms and puffings of tulle. From her shoulders the wonderful silver brocaded court train in a conventionalized design of lily and leaf swept fully five yards behind.

Her slippers were of silver brocade, on which were rosettes of tulle and orange blossoms.

She carried a wonderful bouquet of white orchids, showing in some the faintest of lavender tints. Tiny gauze ribbon bows and rosettes fell gracefully to the bottom of her gown, and the bouquet was tied with wide satin ribbons and tulle.

RETREAT A SECLUDED SPOT

Description of Temporary Stopping Place of Bride and Groom.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Friendship is the country place of John R. McLean on the Tenleytown road, just above Georgetown. It is only one of a number of country houses that were offered, but it was the one selected for a number of reasons. In the summer it is one of the show places of Washington. There are eighty acres of land, most of it still wild, but cleared and brought under partial subjection to the landscape gardener.

Only a comparatively small space about the house itself has been converted into anything like a conventional garden. This is the area of the old fashioned garden, with box walks over a hundred years old that were planted when the place was first built.

This is a beautifully quiet and secluded spot.

Looking out from another of the exits from the house there is a small stretch of grass and gravel walks and a beautiful marble rimmed artificial pond, surrounded by statuary, and the whole is inclosed by a tall cedar hedge.

The house itself is over a hundred years old—that is, the original portion of it—but it is now from the outside an irregular aggregation of cream colored brick and frame buildings back a considerable distance from the road, but still with one corner in plain sight. Aside from the cultivated gardens mentioned the house is surrounded by tall forest trees and on the north is cleared for a few acres park fashion.

To the south there is a big sweep of lawn or field, big as several polo fields, where the horses are exercised and jumpers are trained. There are a number of pretty drives and walks about the place, and the whole is shut in from the road by a high stone and iron wall and with two big gates that can be closed at need and which will be kept shut while the place is occupied by the young bridal couple.

Inside the rambling old house everything is as dainty and cozy as it can be. The interior has been modernized in striking contrast to the exterior, and open fires, radiators, electric lights and masses of towers have made it as charming a retreat as could be found. It is largely because of the material comfort of the home as well as its convenient location that it was selected from a number of places offered.

This will not be the first bridal couple that the old house has entertained in comparatively recent years. It was placed at the disposal of Mary Leiter when she became Lady Curzon and was afterward the honeymoon retreat of Compte de Sevres when he married Miss O'Donnell, the niece of John Carroll.

Why Beverly Was Called Beantown.

The town of Beverly, Mass., was set off from the town of Salem more than 200 years ago. About that time, it is said, a schooner with a full cargo of beans entered that port. This supplied the whole town with beans; hence the name given to the inhabitants, "Beverly Beaners." In 1687 the town of Beverly voted to impose a tax of 10 shillings on all future absentees from town meetings. In 1754 twenty-eight slaves were owned in the town. The first Sunday school in America was established in Beverly in 1810.

Animals and Pain.

A correspondent furnishes to a London journal some curious instances of the apparent lack of highly developed powers of feeling pain in animals. He has, he says, seen a sparrow shot flying fall to the ground and in less than two minutes begin picking up grains that happened to be lying near it. On another occasion a tame rabbit was deprived by a spaniel of its tail, bone and all. It took not the slightest notice of its loss and began feeding again directly it returned to its hutch.

MINERS' STRIKE SURE

Current Feeling In New York Conference to That Effect.

MITCHELL'S PLANS MENACED

May Be Forced to Call Another National Convention if Workers Cannot Agree With Operators—Committee Is Busy Over the Eight Hour Clause.

New York, Feb. 18.—That President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America may be forced to call another national convention of miners before he can make terms with the mine operators on behalf of the anthracite miners was indicated by the action of the subcommittee considering the details of the demands to be made by the men. That step by Mitchell was necessary, it was said, because of the Ryan resolution, run through the last convention, making it necessary for the soft coal men to ratify any agreement the anthracite men make with the operators. Mitchell wants that prohibition removed.

The committee of seven drafting the terms for a new agreement with the operators is busy over the eight hour day clause. The contract miners and their assistants are not very eager for the eight hour provision. They believe that with it in force the operators might insist on the inside men working eight hours.

The outside men, however, are firm for an eight hour day, because they do not think they ought to work nine hours when the men inside work only about half that time for almost double the amount of pay.

The operators, taking advantage of the attitude of the miners' props, are more determined to refuse the eight hour demand. On that, therefore, it is asserted, depends the question of strike or no strike.

Strike Sure to Come.

Among the miners in the Ashland House there was an undercurrent feeling that a big strike is sure to come.

For two years, it was learned, says the American, the mine owners have been defying President Roosevelt and the strike commission appointed at his suggestion to settle the disputes at the last strike in the anthracite region.

That commission ordered the abolition of the black list maintained by the companies.

It was only two weeks ago that the operators complied with that order. They saw then that if the public learned they had ignored the president's commission there would be a tremendous outburst of public indignation against them. They ascertained through their spies in the unions that the abolition of that list was to be made a feature of the demands at the coming conference.

To anticipate that they quietly restored to work the men they had barred because of their participation in the strike of 1902 and then tricked the miners into announcing that it would mislead the public into believing they were willing and eager to meet any reasonable demand.

A Court of Fine Manners.

At the court of Marie Antoinette all emotions and passions were veiled by a mask of politeness. Even the children were taught to speak with wit and tact and courtesy and to bear pain in silence. The little Duc d'Angouleme, eight years old, when the old Sanbrun entered his presence unexpectedly, said, touching the book in his hand: "Ah, monsieur, I am in the company of Plutarch's men. You could not come at a moment more apropos." The Count de Pallance, beheaded in his tenth year, stood erect and calm in the cart until he reached the guillotine. The headsman lifted his long curls. "Monsieur," said the boy, with a bow and a smile. The next moment his head rolled in dust. The man or woman who showed any signs of pretention or self conceit was not received at court. Profound deference was shown to women and to the aged. Well bred men heard of their own ruin with a bonmot and went out to fight each other to the death with such grace and courtesy that the duel seemed a sacrament of friendship.

Odd Suit Against City.

New Castle, Pa., Feb. 12.—Wilbur Grace, who lost a leg as the result of an accident while coasting, has sued the city for $25,000. His sled ran into a water pipe. He contends that as coasting violates a city ordinance and the police failed to arrest him the authorities virtually legalized coasting and that when it was legalized it was the duty of the city to remove all dangerous obstructions.

Ex-Speaker Henderson's End Near.

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 19.—Former Speaker David B. Henderson has suffered another paralytic stroke, which has almost deprived him of his sight. His wife is the only person he recognizes. His general condition is worse. It is believed the end is near.

Got the Babies Mixed.

New York, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Anna Ross of 592 Marcy avenue, Brooklyn, checked her baby and carriage at an eastern district department store, as did Mrs. Mary Johnson of 1085 Lafayette avenue. The latter also left her eight-year-old daughter, Florence, with her baby. Mrs. Johnson finished her shopping first and hurried home, leaving Florence to wheel home the infant. Mrs. Ross called for her child about an hour later and became hysterical when the baby was not there. Florence was found later wheeling the strange baby, and the two were taken to the Hamburg avenue police station. The two mothers were sent for, the babies were exchanged, and both mothers left vowing vengeance on the blundering checker.

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION.

House Wants Railroad, Coal and Oil Monopolies Probed.

Washington, Feb. 20.—By unanimous vote the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce decided to make a favorable report on the Tillman resolution as amended by the subcommittee, consisting of Representatives Hepburn (Ia.), Townsend (Mich.) and Adamson (Ga.). In its amended form the resolution provides for the investigation by the interstate commerce commission of "railroad discriminations and monopolies in coal and oil."

The compromise measure is a combination of the Tillman, Gillespie and Campbell resolutions. It retains the number and title of the Tillman resolution, but narrows it by striking out the proposed investigation of monopolies and discriminations in all products hauled by railways. The measure is broader than the Gillespie resolution in that it includes all coal, while the Gillespie resolution related only to bituminous coal, and it practically includes the Campbell resolution by extending the investigation to oil.

Green's Trial Begun.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The trial of George H. Green of Binghamton, N. Y., a former state senator, on an indictment charging conspiracy in connection with the purchase of time recording clocks for the postoffice department, was begun here in criminal court No. 1. Two cases charging conspiracy, in which George W. Beavers, former chief of the salaries and allowance division of the postoffice department and who recently pleaded guilty, was jointly indicted with Green, were consolidated.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Examiner in chief in the patent office—John M. Coit, South Carolina; assistant secretary of the treasury—John H. Edwards, Ohio; also promotions in the army and navy.

Lipton Gives a Cup.

Boston, Feb. 20.—Sir Thomas Lipton offered and the Boston Yacht club has accepted in trust a $500 cup to be raced for in the twenty-two rating class of the Yacht Racing association of Massachusetts. There are twenty-six clubs in the association, representing the ports from Provincetown to Annisquam. The trophy will be the finest ever offered here for small boats. The cup will become absolutely the property of the owner first winning two championships.

The Jeweler's Carat.

The carat is a standard used by the jewelers to express both weight and fineness. When it is used as a weight it is equal to four grains, or the one hundred and twentieth part of an ounce troy. In determining the fineness of precious metals twenty-four carats is considered the highest standard of purity. According to this standard, an eighteen carat gold ring contains three parts of gold and one of some base metal.

Original Meaning of "Snob."

"Snob" meant originally in the land of its origin a person of plebeian station, considered from the height of "birth." It was a word used with the downward eye and upward nose of superior station or assigned to the haughty by popular convention. Then Thackeray took it and rebuked with it the social ambitions of the vulgar.

The Fifth Nerve.

Sneezing is averted by pressing the upper lip, because by doing so we deaden the impression made on a certain branch of the fifth nerve, sneezing being a reflex action excited by some slight impression on that nerve. Sneezing does not take place when the fifth nerve is paralyzed, even though the sense of smell is retained.

Careful Auntie.

"You will never see your Aunt Maria again until you get to heaven," a little girl was solemnly told by her mother the other day, according to the London Globe. "Will she ask me to wipe my feet?" was her only response. It throws a flood of light on Aunt Maria's character and history.

False Ones.

There is a false modesty, which is vanity; a false glory, which is levity; a false grandeur, which is meanness; a false virtue, which is hypocrisy, and a false wisdom, which is prudery.—Bruyere.

Laughter is day, and sobriety is night; a smile is the twilight that hovers gently between both, more bewitching than either.—H. W. Beecher.

Not His Brother's Keeper.

Rome, Feb. 20.—"My brother, John D. Rockefeller, is not in Rome, and I do not know where he is." This was the reply made by William Rockefeller when questioned by the American correspondent as to the truth of the report that the head of the Standard Oil was in the Eternal City.

Died, Feb. 14, 1906, at the home of his son in Hanover, York county, L. M. Leonard, aged 71 years. Just two months before his death he left his home here to spend the winter with his son, hoping it would improve his health, but death had marked him as its victim and he had to go. He leaves to mourn his loss an aged wife, one daughter, Mrs. C. E. Taylor, two sons, four grandchildren, besides many other kindred and friends, and by them all he will be sadly missed, for he was a devoted husband, an affectionate father, a good citizen and a kind and obliging neighbor. Mr. Leonard had resided in this town for over 48 years and for 30 years was an honored elder in the Church of Christ, and for ten years preceding his eldership he was a deacon in the same church. His funeral was held here Saturday, Feb. 17, conducted by his pastor, B. A. Bower.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For a Girl's Work Apron Designed by Martha Dean—No. 4717

There are all kinds of aprons as well as all kinds of frocks, and here we have sketched a practical work apron for a girl who helps her mother about the house. It may cover her completely, having the high neck and low, straight collar, or be made a bit more attractive by omitting the collar and making the neck Dutch round. This leaves a narrow round yoke, to which the apron part is gathered. The sleeves are bishop and ample enough to be worn over the dress sleeve and snugly cuffed so as to keep out all dust. The two pointed pockets are very useful additions, as one who has used them knows. The apron is complete enough to serve as working dress when the weather is warm. It is extremely simple to make, and any of the apron materials—gingham, percale or muslin—may serve. In the medium size the apron needs four yards of thirty-six inch material. No. 4717, sizes, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years.

Wholesale Robbery.

At East Waverly on Sunday night, six masked and armed men broke into the box car occupied by a gang of 25 Italian laborers at East Waverly, and at the points of their guns robbed them of every cent of money they possessed. The men were employed by the Lehigh Valley. About 9 o'clock there came a great pounding on the door of the car and demands for admittance, which was refused. Then the door was smashed in. The Italians did not report the matter to the police until next morning.

TEXT OF CORRUPT PRACTICE BILL PASSED BY LEGISLATURE.

Is Patterned After the Law in Force in England.

The final passage of the Roberts "corrupt practices in politics" bill gives to Pennsylvania legislation what is unique in its political history. The bill is patterned after the law in operation in England and it aims to prevent corruption by menas of publicity. In a word, it does not prevent a candidate spending a fortune in a single campaign if he is so disposed. It does provide, however, that he must under oath make public his campaign expenses.

Candidates and prospective candidates for the November election will do well to acquaint themselves with the provisions of the bill. It is sweepingly drastic. The bill is explicit in every detail. For instnace, it provides that the term "candidate for nomination," used in the act, shall include all persons whose names are presented for nomination for public office at any primary meeting, caucus, or convention, no matter whether such persons are nominated or not.

"Candidates for election" means all persons whose names are printed on the official ballots or on any official sticker, as well as all persons voted for who shall receive at least ten per cent of the vote cast for the successful candidate.

In simpe words, no one can escape, as the term "candidate" includes every public office to which persons can be elected by vote of the people of the commonwealth.

The term "political committee" includes every two or more persons who have been chosen, elected or appointed to collect, disburse or control money for election expenses.

There will be no dodging the identity of election expenses. In this connection the act states:

The term "election expenses" as used in this act shall include all expenditures of money or other valuable things in furtherance of the nomination of any person or persons as candidates for public office or in furtherance of the election of any person or persons to public office or to defeat the nomination or election to public office or to defeat the nomination or election to public office of any person or persons.

Another strong clause of the law is the one that makes it compulsory for every political committee to appoint and constantly maintain a treasurer, whose duty it shall be to handle every dollar of money collected or received by the committee. That is to say, it will be unlawful for any member of a political committee to spend a dollar unless it first passes through the hands of the treasurer, who must account for it.

Section 3 provides that no person who is not a candidate or the treasurer of a political committee shall pay, give or lend, or agree to pay, give or lend, any money or other valuable thing, whether contributed by himself of by any other person, for any election expenses whatever, except to a candidate or to a political committee, and no officer of any corporation, whether incorporated under the laws of this or any other state, of any foreign country, except corporations formed for political purposes, shall pay, give or lend, or authorize to be paid, given or lent, any money or any other valuable thing belonging to such corporation to any candidate or to any political committee for the payment of any election expenses whatever.

Further provisioins are made in the act, which absolutely prohibit any one from paying a dollar for anything but meetings, speeches, rent, etc., in line with the genuine expenses of a political campaign. Candidats, if expenses exceed $50, shall file within 15 days a sworn itemized statement of all expenses. Every item over $10 shall be accompanied by a voucher. Successful candidates must do this before sworn into office, or it will be unlawful to administer an oath to such. All accounts are audited by the court, which body has power to proceed in case there are found illegal expenses. Any person found guilty of a violation of the act can be punished with two years' imprisonment and a fine of one thousand dollars.

To crown the good work the law provides that the information shall be given to the public, which is considered the greatest safeguard of all.

MANLEY—LEWIS.

An Unusually Pretty Wedding Celebrated at LeRoy.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Lewis of LeRoy, when their only daughter, Daisy Mae, was united in marriage to Ray Bliss Manley of Canton. The color scheme, which was pink and white, was elaborately carried out by the use of carnations. The spacious rooms were still further beautified by a profusion of southern smilax.

Promptly at 6 o'clock the bridal party entered the west parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Edna Lewis, of Elmira. The bride and groom attended by Miss Maud L. Bowman, as maid of honor, and Albert C. Jolley, as best man, both of Elmira, took their places underneath a canopy of smilax and carnations. Rev. D. M. VanTuyl, of Canton, performed the brief and impressive marriage ceremony. An elaborate course dinner was served to nearly a hundred guests.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of crepe de chine over white silk, trimmed with embroidered all-over chiffon and applique, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor was charmingly attired in white chiffon over pink silk and carried pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley after an extended trip to Binghamton, Elmira and other places in New York will reside in LeRoy.

Lecture on Indian History.

On Saturday afternoon, Feb. 24, Christopher Wren of Wilkes-Barre, will lecture before the Bradford County Historical society on the Indian history of the valley, with special reference to the various implements used by the red men in war, camp, fishing and hunting. He will have with him a full set of specimens from his extensive collection which will be placed on exhibition and used in explaining the utility of each article. Mr. Wren is an expert on the subject and his lecture will be both pleasing and instructive. The public should avail themselves the opportunity to hear him; admission free, and a cordial invitation to everybody.

Bad Case in Wayne.

An operation was performed on Philip Burke, at his home in Galilee, last Friday, when four pieces of his skull were removed from pressing against his brain. His condition is critical. The wound, made by Patrick Flynn, who is now held in $1,000 bail in the county jail in Honesdale, does not heal. Flynn claims to have hit Burke over the head with a pine knot in self defense. When the proper authorities came to arrest Flynn, he had disposed of the pine knot, but a harrow tooth lay near the scene of the trouble. The attending doctors claim that the blow looks more as if it had been made with a harrow tooth than a pine knot.

County's Oldest Justice.

V. M. Wilson of Alba, who has just celebrated his eighty-first birthday, was recently unanimously nominated by the Republicans and endorsed by the Democrats to serve his fifth term as justice of the peace, which will mean 50 years tenure of office, a record of popularity and public trust which few men can boast. Mr. Wilson said he felt that this time the office should be given to some one else, but supporters replied that he was to have it as long as he lived.

Lehigh Valley Appointments.

G. A. Thompson, formerly superintendent of the Delaware division of the Erie, later superintendent of transportation at Jersey City, was recently appointed assistant to the president of the Lehigh Valley railroad.

J. F. McGuire, formerly superintendent of the New York division of the Erie, has been appointed superintendent of the Wyoming division of the Lehigh with headquarters at Wilkes-Barre.

Blockaded Several Hours.

A blockade of trains, said to be the worst in the history of the road, occurred on the New York Central at Newberry Junction a few days ago, on account of the emptying of water tanks between that place and Middlebury. Engineers finding no water were compelled to draw the fires on their engines, and it required several hours for the dispatchers to relieve the congestion.

Taking Off the Flyers.

A new timetable went into effect on the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad on Sunday, at which time the DuBois flyers, running between DuBois and Addison, will be taken off. These were fast trains, put on with the idea of developing through business, but the experiment was not a success. The equipment of these trains was of the finest, but that didn't help the business.

Suicide at Cortland.

Robert N. Ford, 21 years of age and a graduate of Cornell university last year, committed suicide a Cortland, N. Y., by drinking the contents of a botle of carbolic acid. No reason is assigned for the act. Last September he was married to a young woman and she is now prostrated by grief.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION HELD QUARTERLY SESSION AT SAYRE

Report of the Meeting There on February 9 and 10.

The Bradford County Educational association held its quarterly meeting at Sayre on Feb. 9 and 10, opening on Friday evening with a lecture by Rev. W. A. Simpson of Athens, who gave an interpretation of "Beside the Bonny Brier Bush." There was a large attendance at this session. The Saturday morning session was called to order by Supt. Putnam. Music was first. Mr. Rogers of Athens conducted the devotional services.

"The Workings of the Weather Bureau" was given by Mr. DeLaney. This bureau was first established in 1891 to give information of weather to the people. There are 1,000 employes, $1,000,000 cost per year, over 20 stations. The barometer and thermometer are most used.

Observations are taken each morning at the weather stations, telegraphed to other places. These observations are recorded on blank maps of the United States. These maps were placed on the board. These were copies of those used Jan. 20 and 22, and showed the direction of the winds and temperature of places. These forecasts have saved many lives and property of inestimable value.

The second grade under the charge of Miss Storms gave an interesting reading class. The permanent certificate committee set May 4 and 5,1906, for the next permanent certificate examination.

The afternoon session began at 2 o'clock with an adress on "The Teacher's Preparation of His Work," by George E. Rogers. The American school system is what the American school teacher has made it. The need of the teacher's preparation has been felt a long time. The lack of ability to do things cannot be altogether the fault of the school. Where would a pupil learn ability to concentrate his mind except in school? The advance in teacher'srequirements has been asked for largely by the teachers themselves. There must be a broad scholarship. There should be the study of methods. There must also be the training or skill. The teacher must have a horizon broader than the text book. Some time must be spent on every lesson which is to be imparted to the pupil. Do not leave a lesson to the inspiration of the moment. This was discussed by G. A. Saxton, I. F. Stetler and Miss Gore.

"Points in Conducting a Recitation," by Miss Irene Warner. Class should be near together with no outside influence. Do not call upon pupils in rotation. Do not ask questions to be answered yes or no. Make questions brief. The topical method is good. A portion of the period should be spent in drill. The pupils should feel that the responsibility rests upon them. Lessons should be assigned and their relation to today's lessons be shown.

This was discussed by Miss Webb, Miss Lampman, Miss McCarthy, Miss Groom, Miss Potter, Miss Kelley and others.

"Personality of the Teacher," by M. R. Lefler. The personality of the teacher should be like that of the great teacher. The greatest thing a child gets is contact with a great personality. Personality is made up of consciousness, character and will. Common sense is an element of character. Every teacher should be pleasant. Every teacher must be in love with his work. Give each pupil a fair deal. Be pure in word, thought and deed. No man can be a success without industry and integrity. Discused by Miss Mahoney, Mr. Humphries, Miss Porter, Mr. Strong and Mr. Morley.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in the discussion of the Batavia system, led by Mr. Humphries. He gave the report of his investigations at Batavia and of its excellent results in individual instruction of the backward pupil. Mr. Rogers told of this system as in use in Ashtabula, Ohio.

The question of an excursion to Washington, D. C., was discussed and a motion was made and carried and a committee was appointed consisting of Mr. Humphries Mr. Stetler, Mr. Dennison as a ways and means committee. Persons in arrears were suspended. Adjourned.

Helen Rickey, Secretary.

THE LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.

Tribune Farmer Has Excellent Letter on the Subject.

Edmund G. Kinyon of Solomonsville, Ariz., has sent the following interesting letter to the New York Tribune Farmer:

Sir: Nearly every town and village newspaper has a department of country correspondence, for which it is always glad to receive contributions. Occasionally some payment is made for the items used, but usually the work is gratuitous, and for that reason, perhaps, it is often permitted to fall into the hands of silly and incompetent persons.

It would be a splendid idea for each community to have an understanding as to the persons who are to act as correspondents or reporters for the county journals. Perhaps a simple organization known as the Whitewater News Bureau or the Willow Creek Information association would best bring about the desired result. Having held a meeting and elected its reporters or correspondents for the year, all of the members of the organization would be pledged to assist in the work—for gathering material and preparing a news letter of the right sort is not an easy task. If it was not the policy of the journals represented to pay for the service, a small assessment would easily raise a sufficient fund, from which the payment of $2 or $3 a month could be made, thus compensating and encouraging the persons who did the greater part of the work. This plan would contemplate the selection of a reporter for each of the journals in the nearby towns which desired such a service.

The object of this would be primarily to assist the local newspapers, although they are usually worthy institutions, but to help and entertain the community itself. A dignified and intelligent news letter appearing regularly in the county paper gives to the community from which it comes a reputation for substance and sobriety and worth. A silly, twaddly communication, detailing inconsequential happenings in a spirit of cheap wit, is a blight and pestilence to any community. Publishers would gladly co-operate with a movement having for its object the gathering of all the real news, and they would readily agree to exclude all communications except those coming through the regular reporter, whose identity would be well known.

In writing his letter, the reporter should carefully omit all reference to subjects of politics and religion likely to offend any one or incite controversy. His column should be a miniature of the local page of a well conducted journal. Anouncements of the meetings of the church societies, schools, lyceums and other organizations would properly appear. Mention of visitors, of persons undertaking journeys of importance, of persons seriously ill, of unusual phases of weather and crops, births, deaths and weddings—all of these are items of legitimate news. Occasionally something of larger importance will occur, and this the reporter should endeavor to "cover" in a way adequate and satisfying. All such items as "John Jones has a new buggy; so look out, girls," and "Will Smith was seen going north Sunday evening" should be excluded as unworthy of the dignity of the community. Idle gossip and insinuations should, of course, receive no consideration. A gleam of wit is not out of place if it be neither flabby nor poisonous. The strong endeavor, however, should be to give the current news and the announcements of interest—to write of the life, the daily history, of the community.

Some systematic plan followed up year after year, would prove of great benefit to any community. With the era of telephones and rural routes country residents are brought into closer communication and the work of collecting material for an interesting news letter is much simplified, and if a young person, a student or a teacher, is selected for the work, he or she will find the practice of much benefit. Whether by organization or through the efforts of a single individual, the standard of thought and intelligence of a community is much improved and its good name abroad materially strengthened by supplanting the pestiferous joker's effusions with letters of real worth and dignity.

AUSTINVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Relyea, an aged couple living about two miles from this place, met with a severe accident near Palmer's store last Friday. In some way the lines got fast in the harness and in trying to turn the horse, the wagon was tipped over, injuring Mr. Relyea internally. He is not expected to live. Mrs. Relyea escaped with a few slight bruises.

Mrs. Florence Crippen and Mrs. Helen Hulslander visited Sunday at Walter Watkins at Altus.

JUROR WAS EXCUSED.

Slept With Plaintiff of Suit on Which Juror Sat.

Levi Towner of Sheshequin, was drawn as a juror in the Pease-Doane suit and sat on the suit on Monday. Tuesday morning complaint was made that Mr. Towner had occupied the same room at a hotel the night before with Dr. E. E. Pease of Nichols, the plaintiff.

It appears that Mr. Towner had been assigned the room and gone to bed and that as it was a double room with two beds, later Mr. Pease was assigned one of the beds. There was no allegation that any improper conversation had been made but upon request of Mr. Towner himself and the agreement of counsel for both sides, Mr. Towner was excused. Counsel agreed to continue the suit with 11 jurors.

EXPLOSION AT CANTON.

Several Men Injured at Plant of Taber & Mitchell.

An explosion occurred at the foundry of Taber & Mitchell at Canton about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, in which M. B. Taber had his eye badly rurt and was quite severely burned. James Mitchell and Fred Landon were also quite badly cut by the flying pieces and received burns.

A cylinder head which was being heated over a forge, was the cause of the trouble, although what caused it to explode with such terrific force is a mystery. It was a miracle that some one was not killed, as the forge was destroyed, and portions of the roof badly torn up. The building caught fire but was quickly extinguished.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a Bottle. Bear in mind the name and address: Dr. David KENNEDY, Rondout, New York.
